HEY, LOOK

Throughout the school's history, Jefferson students have shown their own special way of doing things, whether in athletics, academics, or activities. This mannerism is fondly referred to as the "Jefferson Way."

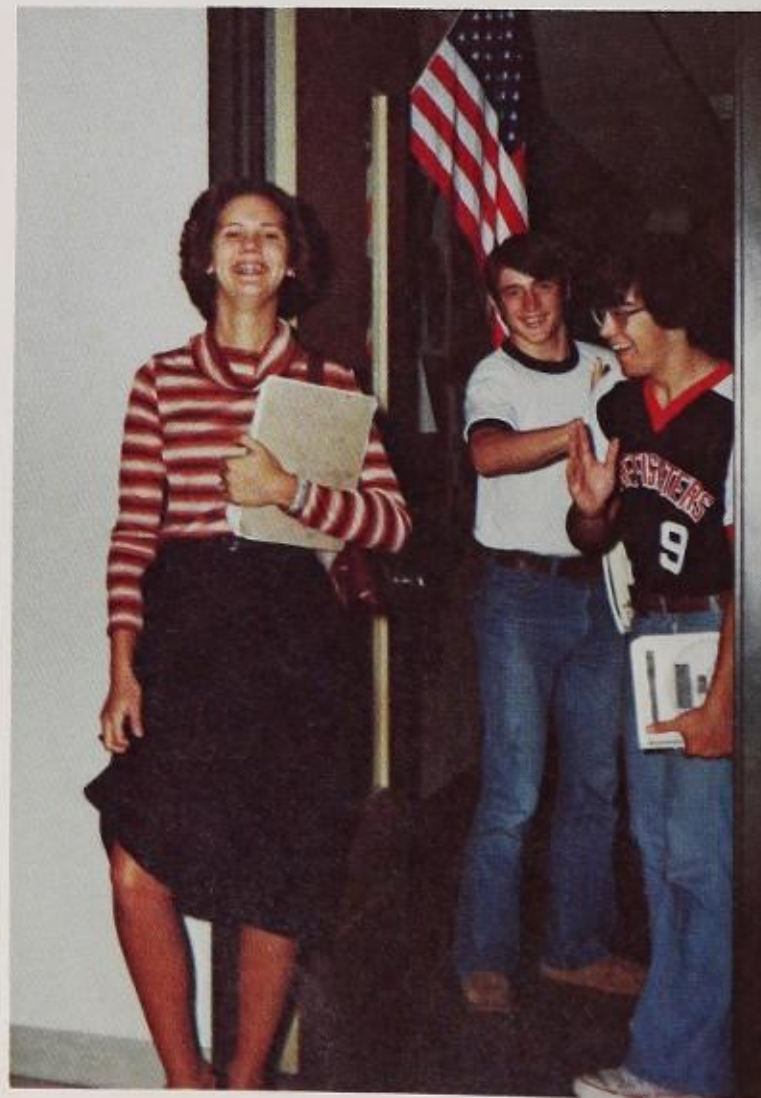

The qualities of tradition and uniqueness have implanted themselves in the heart of the school. Jefferson students staunchly defend the traditions they call their own. From the Homecoming bonfire to the "Bronchoette Gallop" dance to lounging in the beloved Corral area, Jefferson students pride themselves on their spirit and sense of traditions.

These sophomore boys display a common talent in the corral—a gift of gab.

This sense of pride at Jefferson has been, and is, often mistaken by rival schools as snobbery, a charge Jefferson students resent. Such misunderstanding by outsiders could dishearten the Bronchos, but their sense of enthusiasm prevails.

Striving for excellence in all areas—the Jefferson Bronchos. The phrase "Hey, look at us!" seems an appropriate message that lingers with each and every Broncho. Without speaking, students of Jefferson exhibit their pride in all that they do.

The football Block's spirit soars high as a homecoming victory draws nearer.

Hey, Look

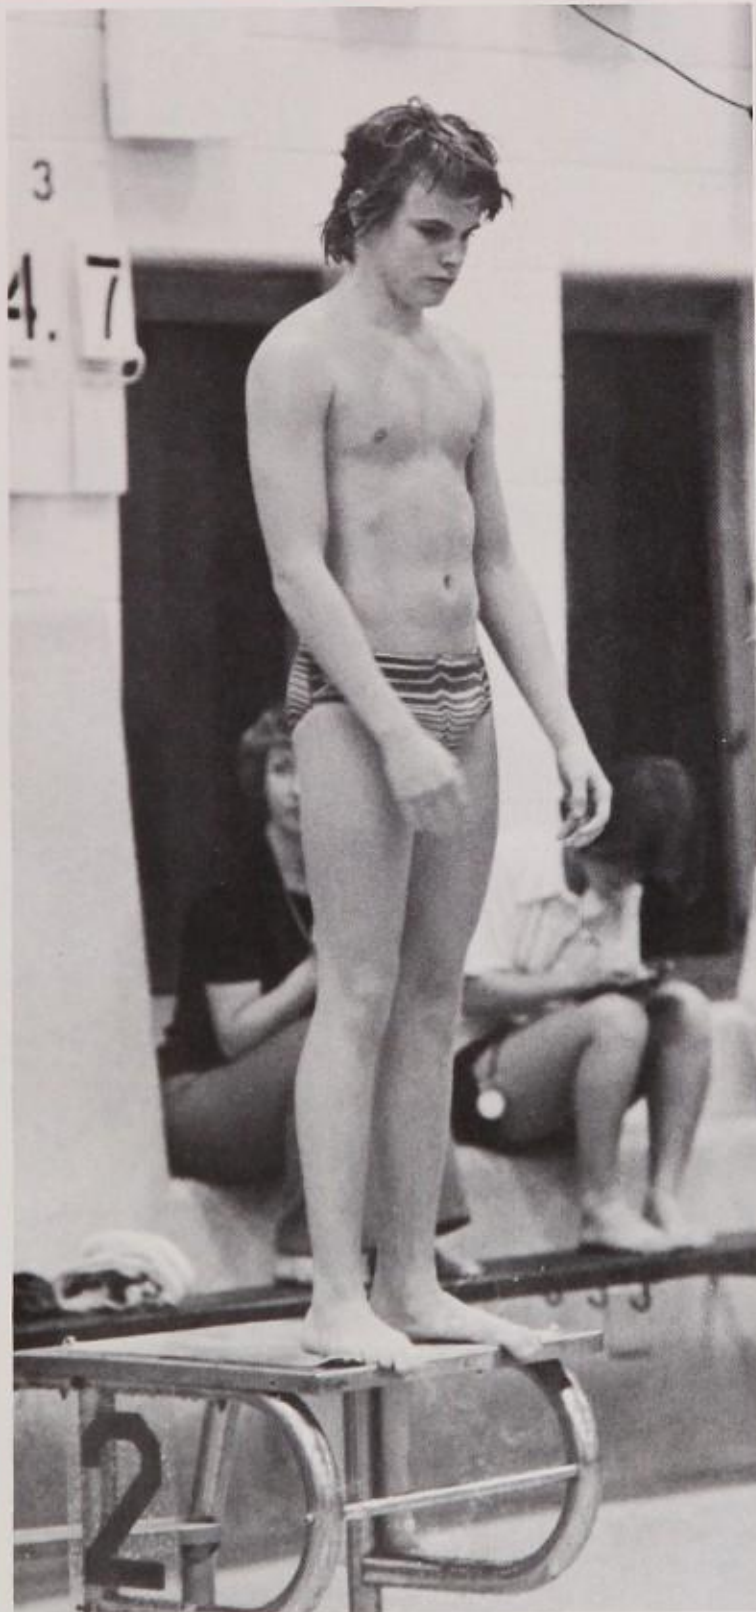

"Hey, look at us! We're doing our thing!" Combining various extra-curricular activities with academics, possibly a job, and, of course, such necessities as eating and sleeping, can prove to be no easy assignment. Jeff students again found their lives literally filled with places to go, things to do, people to meet. At times, the pressure of these many responsibilities was enough to cause a student to want to collapse!

On the other hand, in accordance with the more or less "unwritten code" of Jeff Bronchos, students somehow managed to cope with every situation. The Bronchos seemed to vigorously tackle their problems. Even if it meant performing near "juggling acts," students managed to cope with everything from wrestling meets to foot-high snow drifts in the parking lot!

True to their form, students of Jeff never let the tension get them down for long. Not only did they manage, but they managed well all year long. No attempt was considered a failure, for Jeff Bronchos continued to give each task their best shot. Whether fixing a carburetor or cheering a team on to joyous victory or even conquering a simple algebra problem, Jefferson students kept up their spirit and determination. Even more importantly, they went about things in their own very special manner, more than earning their right to exclaim, "Hey, look at us! We're doing our thing!"

At Us . . . We're Doing Our Thing

Although this play has ended, Jeff continued on working until the scoreboard read: Jeff-7 — Richmond-6.

"Our fan support, from students and adults alike, has been strong all year long. I'm certain that a portion of the extra effort we extended against Richmond resulted from the week-long efforts of the student body, and particularly the varsity cheerleaders, to get behind us," commented Coach Dave Knott. The week-long efforts leading up to Friday, October 14, to which he referred, included the bonfire, spirit competitions, hall decorations and the crowning of Jenny Dible as Homecoming Queen.

The long-anticipated game pitted Jeff against conference rival Richmond. After playing two quarters of scoreless ball, Jeff placed points on the scoreboard in the third quarter, when Gary Little ran 65 yards for a touchdown. Gregg Thomas followed by kicking the extra-point conversion, which proved to be the winning factor of the game, as the final score was 7-6 in favor of Jeff.

Looking back on the game Coach Knott remarked, "For the first time all year long we reduced our offensive errors to zero, while Richmond committed five. That, coupled with the superior effort of our defensive team, resulted in a big victory."

Homecoming. . . With A '77 Flair

The team has reason to cheer, for the final score was 7-6 in favor of Jeff.

These boys display the spirit and determination that was evident all week long.

A Wide Variety Of Amusement For Jeff

What does one think of when he hears the word "pep session" or "convocation?" Many teachers have one common thought - a loss in teaching time. But students exhibit many various feelings. Some students think of boredom, shortened classes, or a chance to catch up on some sleep. Many students, however, look forward to these two activities with excitement and interest.

The pep sessions this year were filled with spirit and enthusiasm. Advisory Board members, cheerleaders, teachers, and seniors donned unusual and funny costumes to wear in skits which portrayed the ignorance and lack of talent that Jeff teams hoped to find in opposing squads and often did. The cheerleaders led cheers and yells to bolster spirit among the students and players and directed the traditional spirit jug contests. After each pep session, one could feel the spirit and excitement which filled the halls and the students' disappointment at returning to classes.

But pep sessions were not the only class interruptions. Jeff students also had nine interesting convocations to take their minds off of studies. The committee that chose these convos was made up of two Sunshine Society members, two Student Council members, and the 1976-77 sophomore and junior presidents and vice-presidents; and these people did a good job at choosing entertaining acts. The year began with a fine show by the Army Jazz Band, and later on in the year, the Mountain Music Makers and Jeff's own A Cappella choir entertained the student body with their musical ability. Students and teachers also were entertained by speaker Don Lonie, two gymnasts, and a representative of the Atomic Energy Commission of Oakridge, Tennessee; however, Dr. Morton Ford, a hypnotist, and karate expert Tom Twining were the most well-liked performances presented at Jeff.

So despite the few who thought the pep sessions and convos were useless, the majority of the student body and teachers are sure to agree that the performances were very interesting, entertaining, and well worth the time they took up.

PAJAMA

Although many Jeff students work at part-time jobs, employment in a factory, much less a pajama factory, is a sensation rarely experienced by the fair students of Jefferson. For 37 Acappella Choir members involved in production of the musical comedy "The Pajama Game," however, their tasks within the walls of the Sleepitite Pajama Inc. are ones not soon to be forgotten.

Beginning seven weeks of rehearsal in late September, cast members, director Richard Jaeger, and various others, set their sights on November 3, 4, and 5, production dates for their show. "The Pajama Game" itself is the story of a love affair set against a backdrop of labor union conflict. From the start, there is friction between superintendent Sid Sorokin (Bryan Lane) and his factory worker-grievance committee-sweetheart, Babe Williams (Kim Chapman). The union laborers' demand for a "seven and a half cent" raise only adds to the lovers' troubles.

Company President Myron Hasler (Bob Martin), erratic efficiency expert Vernon Hines (Tim Dellinger), and secretaries Mabel (Gretchen Strahle) and Gladys (Carrie Henck) complete the side for "the management." Rooting for the laborers are Babe's friends Brenda (Carol Kriebel), Poopsie (Jennifer McKenzie), and Mae (Terri Delay), as well as Max the Salesman (Phil Habig). Various other garment workers rounded out the cast for Acappella's version of the show.

What made "The Pajama Game" unique from any of the 66 other musicals Richard Jaeger has directed? "Pajama Game's" main difference is that it dealt with a social issue, as opposed to, for instance, last year's (Sweet) Charity, which was your basic romance," said Jaeger. According to him, getting high school students to understand the mentality of a strike was a tough assignment.

Critique books generally describe "The Pajama Game" as having delighted audiences for years, since its original production in 1954. Now that the show has graced Jeff's stage, via Acappella, their version of the musical should stand as no exception.

Jeff the "Once-over"

"You don't volunteer for this work, if what you want is a vacation or a rest," explained Dr. Jack M. Bowman, chairman of the North Central Association (NCA). Dr. Bowman referred to the job of an NCA team member involved in the inspection and subsequent "rating" of various U.S. schools.

As an NCA member, Jefferson was visited by a 19-member team of representatives the week of October 4 thru October 7, 1977. This evaluation, while perhaps "fussed" over by some, created hardly a ripple in the natural flow of events around the school. On the contrary, both Dr. Bowman and Jeff's own administrators noticed the highly cooperative attitude of the student body. "We were surprised at the good behavior and pleased in the amount of interest of Jeff students," said Dr. Bowman. In addition, Principal William Levering broadcasted his thanks to students a short time later, adding that he hoped students would "Keep up the good work."

Some areas that impressed the NCA team were Jeff's broad curriculum, its overall well-qualified teachers, the Guidance Department, and the school's outstanding facilities. "The basic curriculum here is the same as other schools," said Dr. Bowman, "however, Jeff is unique, for instance, in its concentration in such areas as art or music." Furthermore, Dr. Bowman pointed out, "Your radio and television center is one of the few operating in Indiana."

Besides their thorough inspection of Jeff's every detail, the NCA team, composed of volunteers from the ranks of teachers, counselors and administrators, maintained a rather rigorous schedule. During their stay, members arose around 6:30 a.m. Their evaluation, including visitation of various classes, commenced at 8:00 a.m. and continued throughout the school day. Committee meetings and discussion of their findings filled team members' evenings. "By midnight, many of us were quite ready for bed," admitted Dr. Bowman.

The final task of the evaluating team included a conference of all members. Each facet of Jeff was discussed, and a written report of between 60 to 70 pages was composed. The final report, in turn, represented the consensus of the entire NCA evaluating team and included both praise, as well as various suggestions for possibly bettering the high school.

Due to its widespread operation, from Colorado to Indiana, the North Central Association provides school faculty members and administrators with the opportunity of mutual improvement of schools, both their own and the one they are evaluating. "In effect, we're a type of quality control system," Dr. Bowman said. Now that Jefferson's quality has been "controlled," students and faculty alike can relax for another seven years, at which time the NCA shall return. . . .

Above: Although they worked vigorously, the NCA team did find time for some "play" at a pre-evaluation tea in their honor.

Someplace, Sometime:

The Gallop. That much-anticipated, highly publicized, unsurpassed (except maybe by the Prom), social event of the year!!! After weeks of planning by members of the Bronchoette Sunshine Society, Jeff's 1977 Gallop finally became a reality on November 12.

As one of Jeff's new semi-formal dances of the year, the Gallop was a rather nice treat for all concerned. Former "Levi addicts" donned their "Saturday night best." Evening wear ranged from Qiana gowns and tunics for girls, to three-piece suits and sports jackets for guys. Even the old, familiar, neon-lit cafeteria looked unlike its usual self, with around-the-world scenes, soft lights, a bandstand, and flowers. Instead of the usual "mess hall" tables, cloth-covered "tables for two" added to the romantic air of the evening.

As many as 250 couples attended the dance, most arriving between 9:00 and 9:30, some later. Dancing, picture-taking, and conversation filled the next few hours. At 11:00, Sunshine Society President Mary Jane Gerst crowned Jim Mayer "Gallop King" with a kiss.

Mayer's court consisted of fellow seniors: Kent Broach, Phil Habig, Kevin Clark, Keith Reisinger, Jody Plant, Ed Cramer, and Russ Neilan. Next, the band, Chameleon, invited couples to dance once more by playing the obviously favorite slow music.

The "night to remember" became just that, a memory, as the clock struck midnight. Yet, as the theme of the dance reminded students, they had all just been "Someplace" and had "Sometime." And only for seniors did 12:00 mark the last Gallop of all. For the others, there would always be "next year."

Around The World In 365 Days . . .

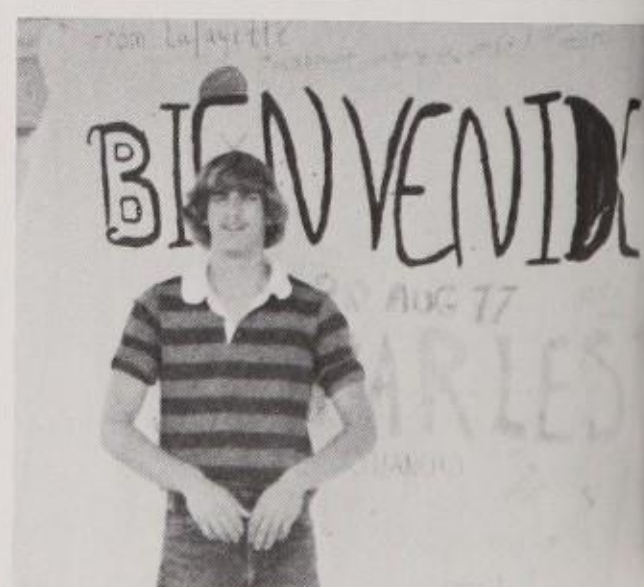

Bunny Blair traveled to and stayed in Kayoto, Japan during the summer. One big difference she noticed between the Japanese and us Americans is that the Japanese show a great respect for each other. Other noticeable differences are (a) the people are more conservative, (b) teenagers are far more advanced in areas of math, engineering, and science, and (c) the food is hard to get used to. She said she had a very difficult time eating raw fish, octopus, squid, and seaweed. While in Japan, she toured temples, and even did some diving for pearls. Bunny said she had a terrific time and hopes to return for many more visits.

Another traveling Jeff student was Julie Mann. Julie lived in Tehran, Iran. Julie found Iran to be a very wonderful country to visit. The people of Iran were very friendly, and she found visiting to be a major part of their social culture. She said that the streets of Iran are lined with small handcraft shops and, although she enjoyed traveling throughout the country, her favorite passtime was shopping. But she said the best part of her trip was her family because they were so good to her.

Michelle Bunting lived on a farm five miles outside of Holstebro, Denmark. She had three brothers and one sister, all of whom were around her age. Since the Danish are very family-oriented, Michelle spent the majority of her time with her family. She said that the most common types of transportation were riding trains and riding bikes. She did much traveling around the country and visited many friends and relatives with her family. Michelle found Denmark to be a very beautiful country and would like to return someday to visit her family.

Charles Smith lived down in Cali, Colombia for two months. He spent quite a bit of time traveling around the country, and although the Colombian lifestyle is a little different from that of the U.S., he noticed that the country is becoming more and more Americanized with U.S. industries. Charles enjoys traveling and would like to go back to Colombia someday, but right now he is looking forward to his next year of school-a year of study abroad.

A year of study abroad brings to mind Jeff student Mike Shippee. Mike spent a year in Glasgow, Scotland, where he attended school. The courses he studied were much the same as if he were here. He participated on the school's fencing and volleyball teams, and attended pro-soccer games, discos, parties, and punk rock concerts in his spare time. He got along fine with his family, but he had trouble adjusting to the weather since it rained about three days a week. Upon his return to the U.S., Mike will attend Jeff one more year; but he felt the experience was well worth it.

Bettina Schultz, an exchange student from W. Berlin, Germany, stayed with the Frank Simek family. She attended Jeff as a senior but had to return to Germany for three more years of schooling. Bettina said that one of the biggest adjustments for her was the difference between Jeff and her school in Germany. Jeff has about three times as many students as her German school. After a tour of the U.S., Bettina returned to Germany; but she hopes to come back to the U.S. for college.

Mitch Miller also traveled to Japan this past summer, but he stayed in Tokyo, Japan, with Yasuoki Tanaka's family. Mitch agreed with Bunny Blair that the Japanese are far more respectful than we Americans are, but he also noticed that in Japan the men are considered to be far more superior to the women. While in Japan, Mitch traveled to Kayoto, Japan; rode the bullet train, which is the fastest train in the world; and visited one of the schools, where he taught English for two days.

Yasuoki Tanaka was another exchange student at Jeff this year. Yasuoki came from Tokyo, Japan and lived with the Robert Miller family. Yasuoki became involved in several activities. These activities included the Jeff speech team and the Purdue rugby team. Although Tokyo is similar to Chicago and Indianapolis, Yasuoki agreed that Jeff was hard to adjust to. He said at first he found it hard to make friends because there are so many in the school. Yasuoki would like to return to the U.S. to live, and he hopes to eventually become a U.S. citizen.

After 2:45

It's 2:40 p.m. and your sixth period class is just about over. Instead of the chemical formula for sodium nitrate or the last chapter of Hawthorne's The Scarlet Letter, visions of what "after school" will bring fill your head. Will football practice be rough again? Or do you have another play rehearsal? Are you dreaming of the trip home in a shiny Camaro with your "true love?" Or is a bumpy school bus ride in store for you? Maybe you have to go to work; maybe you have a dentist appointment. or, perhaps you're one of the lucky few who gets to just plain old "kick around" and do as you please. But, whatever the case, you can be sure of one thing, that it's all a part of the action . . . after 2:45.

According to figures from the latest survey taken by the Jeff Guidance Office, 67 percent of the seniors and 56 percent of juniors at Jeff have jobs, and Mr. Frank Lane, Director of Guidance, felt that these figures have increased. Mrs. Marge Walkey, who distributed work permits, said that she handed out, on the average, four permits a day.

From pumping gas to waiting tables to feeding animals, Jefferson students have sought out some of the most unusual jobs. More and more students discovered that their outfit for the Gallop, that senior trip to Florida, the gas for the car, and all those needed little "extras," are not priced as cheaply as they hoped. Therefore, to pay for all of their necessities and accessories, a majority of Jeff students have joined the ranks of the employed.

CHOWING DOWN

What is the most popular sport at Jeff High School? What is an activity at Jeff everyone participates in? Take three guesses. You're right; it's eating food! But then that's nothing surprising. It seems as if teenagers and food were made for each other.

Almost any restaurant you walk into, you can find a fellow Jeff student "chowing down." And there is a restaurant to fulfill almost everyone's appetite. For the hungry person, McDonald's offers the famous Big Mac. Taco Bell is the place for the person with the spicy tongue. The sweet-toothed person can be found lounging at Frozen Custard, Baskin Robbins, or perhaps even at Wendy's with a Frosty. And to satisfy the little bit of Italian in most everyone, Pizza King and Arni's offers a wide variety of Italian dishes. These places are just a few of the many available here in Lafayette.

But for those students who have limited funds or are confined to school grounds, the school cafeteria serves as a retreat for a good "chow down."

Chris Skiver and Lisa Horton anticipate a hot crispy piece of cheese pizza at Arni's after a Jeff football game.

Linda Runck munches on an order of Wendy's crispy fries and a frosty.

Frozen Custard is a favorite meeting spot for many high school students during the summer months.

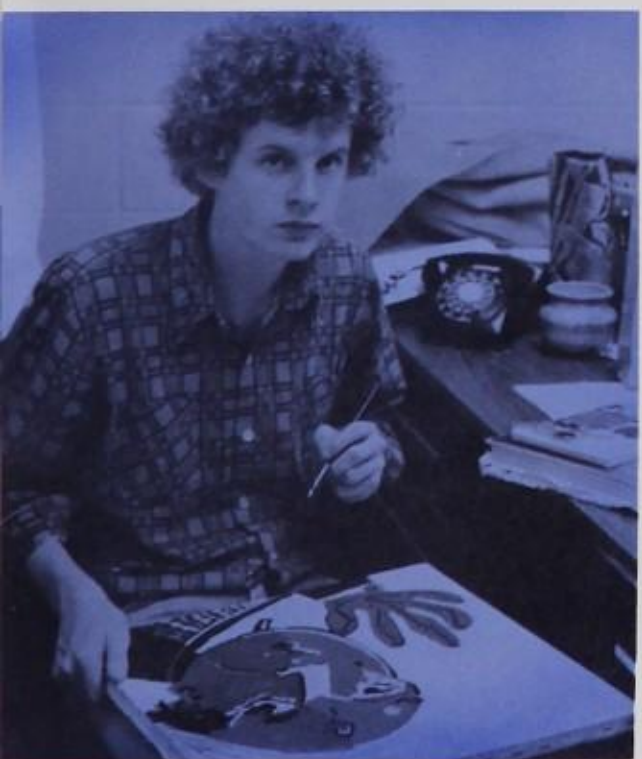

Hey, Look

Hey, look at us! We're learning our stuff. Now that could be one of the greatest understatements ever written, for we gain an unbounding amount of knowledge at Jeff due to our excellent facilities and well-trained faculty. Not many other schools can boast about a planetarium, a radio and television studio, an enormous auditorium, an Olympic-size swimming pool, and a well-equipped Instructional Materials Center. Does this list need to continue? And how many other schools can provide adequate training for students interested in either vocational or professional fields? Don't waste too much time thinking, because you surely won't be able to name very many. Can many other schools say that they offer such a wide variety of classes such as: senior foods, aerospace, computer math, electronics, calculus, dramatics, drafting, music theory, honors English, and visual design? That list will be even shorter than the first.

Now, don't we, as students of Jefferson High School, have a right to be proud of our outstanding facilities and say, "Hey, look at us! We're learning our stuff."?

At Us . . . We're Learning Our Stuff

Dr. Kessler,

Welcome To Lafayette

During the 1977-1978 school year, the Lafayette School Board was effectively led by Mr. Virgil Myers, President; Mrs. Katherine Wood, Vice-president; and Mr. Charles Bell, Secretary. Mr. Charles Hicks, Mr. Phil Kelley, Mr. Robert W. Schmidt, and Dr. Leon Tiche were the remaining four board members that assisted their leaders throughout the year. For the majority of the year, Mr. Leonard Smith served as the Acting Superintendent after which he will retire in July after 32 years of service to the schools. Aiding Mr. Smith this year were Assistant Superintendents Mr. Francis Goodnight, Mr. Thomas Maddox, and Mr. Earl Nelson. Attorney E. Kent Moore handled the legal affairs while Dr. Edward Eiler was the Assistant Business Manager of the board.

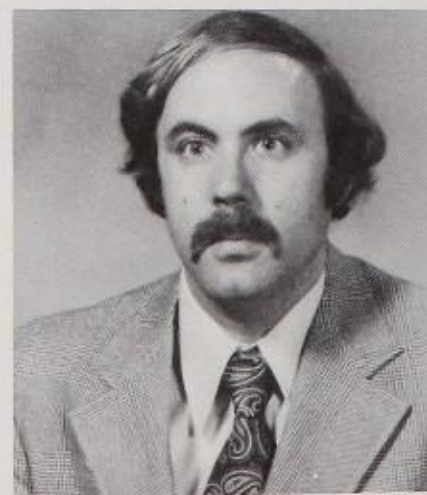

One of the primary goals of the school board this year was to select a new superintendent. The long process of selection required many extra hours in reviewing resumes, conducting interviews, and evaluating applicants. Their final decision was to appoint Dr. Robert E. Kessler, the former Assistant Superintendent of the Shaker Heights City Schools in Shaker Heights, Ohio.

Dr. Kessler, who took charge on April 1, is sincere in trying to improve the public school system, and the following is a statement from Dr. Kessler which summarizes his philosophy of the Superintendent's role:

I believe that a superintendent in today's world must be concerned significantly beyond the daily operation of a school system . . . The capable superintendent must recognize the place of innovation, curriculum design, educational research and evaluation in the complex organization that is the school system. He should be expected to serve as an educational leader and consultant to the professional staff and the Board of Education as a competent authority on personnel management, and as economist and budget supervisor of an often vastly complex and highly decentralized organization.

The school board is shown at a typical Monday meeting.

Administration: The Head Honchos

"It's been an honor and a privilege to be the principal of the best high school," said Mr. William Levering, who has been principal of Jefferson for the past eight years. Mr. Levering has come to earn the respect of the students during the years he has been principal.

Mr. Dennis Blind, Mr. James Murray, and Mr. Ronald Campbell also hold high positions in the Jefferson administration. Mr. Blind, assistant principal, has the endless task of coordinating the school's activities. Mr. Murray, also assistant principal, has the thankless job of coordinating the school curriculum and the difficult position of director of Book Rental. Mr. Campbell, dean of students, has the unique power of punishing those students who have earned their just rewards.

Thanks to these men and their subordinates, Jefferson High School has kept functionally sound.

Counselors Guide Us Thru Year

The Guidance Department, headed by Mr. Frank Lane, had a busy year counseling students on everything from school to personal problems. The counselors worked to place students in classes based on their ability and interests, as well as their post-graduate plans. They also advised students on college choices, as well as technical and vocational schools.

Jeff's counselors were very pleased with the outcome of the College Fair held at Purdue University in October. Admission representatives were there from most colleges in Indiana to talk to students about admissions, programs and financial aid. Indiana Vocational Technical College was also represented to tell of its programs. The counselors encouraged all students and parents to attend this function.

IMC - A Student's

The Instructional Materials Center (I.M.C.) has nineteen-thousand books and each book plays an individual role in a student's studies. If the student cannot find what he needs in the book section, he can always refer to the audio-visual section of the I.M.C. The audio-visual section has films, tapes, records, tape recorders, and record players. If the student still cannot find his subject matter, he can receive individual assistance from the very competent staff of the I.M.C., which consists of Mrs. Jane Nichols, Mrs. Peggy Pfeiffer, Mrs. Frieda Peek, and Mrs. Ilse Dallmayr. This staff also receives tremendous support from the student assistants in the I.M.C. These assistants aid the staff by taking attendance from the study hall people, checking out books and magazines, and performing many other important jobs in the I.M.C. The Instructional Materials Center is considered by some, as a student's "Second Home."

Speech And English Together But Different

Mr. Phelps assists Keith Reisinger with his work.

"My room is my office," announced speech department head, Mr. James Hawker. Mr. Hawker firmly believes that his students should not have to roam the school to find him. Not only does Mr. Hawker believe that this is the only way to have it, but he has convinced the "rest" of his staff that this policy is the only way to go. Mr. Thomas Prill, the "rest" of the staff, also follows this practice closely.

Both Mr. Hawker and Mr. Prill specialize in their respective areas. Mr. Hawker specializes in teaching his students the correct way to give a public speech. An example of Mr. Hawker's methods is an extemporaneous speech, in which the student has forty-five minutes to construct a speech from the contents of a magazine article.

Mr. Prill also believes that experience is the best teacher. Mr. Prill may make directing look easy, but, when he puts his students behind the megaphone, they soon learn what a difficult job directing really is.

But then again, school has never been easy. Back in Abraham Lincoln's day, schools taught the three "R's:" reading, 'riting, and 'rithmetic. These subjects are the foundation of today's more advanced courses. Today our schools teach a multitude of subjects, ranging from English composition to speech. Schools today have to prepare their students for college, which is no easy task with the high standards now set by universities. Did you know that Jeff graduates now attending Purdue University are extremely well-prepared for the English classes they take? According to Jeff English Department head, Harry Green, 73% of these students got "B's," 57% got "C's," and 45% received "A's." Mr. Green attributes this "feat" to the "TRADITIONAL approach to teaching" at Jeff. Many schools that have tried, for instance, "mini-courses" and "open" classroom techniques, are now returning to the more "traditional" approach of education.

Mr. Green also says that "Jeff does much for the poor reader as any other school." An example of this is the second semester course entitled Reading, which is available to students who found reading and comprehension a difficulty. This course is strictly voluntary. Thus, from its honors to basic English courses, Jeff strives to educate every one equally.

WJEF - Among The State's Best

"Hands on operations" and "M.O.R." were a couple of expressions coined by department head William S. Fraser and heard by students in Jeff's Radio and T.V. studios. "Hands on operations" stands for the students operating the station and "M.O.R." represents the type of music the station plays, "middle of the road," to hopefully please its predominantly middle-aged audience.

Back in 1954, Mr. Fraser decided to request a Radio and T.V. class and thus was born Jefferson's Radio and Television Department. Early in its history, Jeff's radio and T.V. section was not very organized, but today "... we have one of the best departments in the state," said Mr. Fraser.

This year the students of WJEF not only had to handle daytime broadcasts but also had home football and basketball games. These "Broncho Broadcasters" commentated all Junior Varsity and Varsity Football and Basketball games. During the basketball season alone, the students of WJEF managed to cover about thirty-seven ballgames.

Whenever a "crisis" arose in the center, Mr. Stevan Speheger, chief engineer, came to the rescue. Among students holding responsible positions were Joe Martin, program director, and his assistant Vicki Hammel. The student chief engineer was Douglas Rady. A total of seventy-two students were involved in the Radio and T.V. Center in 1977-78.

It is interesting to note that, through the years, thirty-one students from Jeff have gone on to pursue careers in the radio and television field. One example is ".D.J." Mike Ray employed at radio station Z-96, better known as WAZY.

Figuring It Up With Science

In order to be an intelligent, informed citizen nowadays, one must know something about science, in a world that is rapidly becoming more and more scientifically inclined. For this reason, the Science Department at Jeff plays an important role in preparing students for the future.

The department, headed by Mr. Arthur Kline, consists of nine male teachers. Their principle objective is to emphasize that science is a logical combination of facts, and that most problems can be solved by using logic.

Because of the wide variety of science courses offered, there are classes to suit every student's needs. Most college-bound students take biology, chemistry, and physics. The department also offers everything from life science to aerospace. Concepts, engineering, and honors chemistry and physics are also offered. None of these courses are required, and they are open to anyone who has taken the prerequisite courses.

No matter what profession a student wishes to pursue, a strong scientific background should always be a great asset. Jeff's Science Department has all the equipment and supplies necessary to prepare students for all walks of life. Everyone should be encouraged to take advantage of the opportunities the Science Department holds.

Willy Strong and Greg Newton model the newest accessories in chemistry lab equipment.

"Cathi, what does the recipe for this call for next?"

Jackie Bradley sums it up.

The Math Department, headed by Mr. Kenneth Conkling, makes up the largest department of all the non-required courses. It is made up of a special education teacher, Mrs. Shoemaker, and ten teachers whose main objective is to adequately train students for college at the academic level and to prepare them for any real life situation which might arise.

Of the large variety of courses which are offered, there is a course for every type of student, depending on his interests and future plans.

Geometry is the most popular of all the courses offered. Most college bound students follow the pattern of taking geometry their sophomore year, algebra their junior year, and advanced math and calculus their senior year. For the business-oriented students, the department also offers business math and a computer course.

Although no further mathematical education is required after ninth grade algebra, students realize its importance and do not hesitate to get as much of a mathematical background as possible. There are tremendously large areas in the science, engineering, and accounting fields, among many others, which require a strong mathematical background. The Math Department strives to give students the proper training to advance in these fields.

Even though nothing is absolutely perfect and there is always room for improvement, the Math Department excels highly in preparing students for the future.

"It's All Greek To Me"

Jeff's Foreign Language Department has excellent facilities for students studying a language. Each student in the class is assigned a headset with an attached microphone which enables the student to hear a taped lesson. This lesson may be used in either individual or group study and permits the student to hear his own voice. There are workbooks, distributed to the students, used in coordination with the text book. Also, throughout the year students enjoy "cultural experiences," which deepen their knowledge of the customs and art forms of the people whose language they study.

German, French, and Spanish are the three languages offered at Jeff. Students not only learn to speak and write the language but also get a background of the countries and the people who speak the language.

Mr. Raymond McGlothlin, the German teacher, heads the department. Mrs. Linda Brammell is the French teacher, and the Spanish teachers are: Mr. Omelio Sosa, Ms. Donna Reseigh, and Ms. Peggy Edwards.

Back Thru The Years

Indiana State social science requirements for students are U.S. History for juniors, and Government and one elective for seniors, but the Jefferson High School Social Studies Department goes far beyond these required courses. Sociology, Economics, World History, and Current Problems are elective courses also offered on both academic and general levels.

Mr. Joe Heath, a sociology and economics teacher, heads the large department. Jeff's U.S. History teachers are James Hiatt, Carol Paddock, Dick Skibinski, Robert St. Clair and Doris Sperandio. Terry Dietz and Pat McCaffrey are government teachers. John Mazur teaches both Government and Current Problems. Lugenia Parham instructs World and U.S. History and Billie Jennings teaches Sociology and Current Problems.

Apart from regular classroom study, teachers use audiovisual aids such as T.V. tapes, overhead projectors and films for a different approach to a lesson. Guest speakers are invited to talk to certain classes. For example, Right to Life, an anti-abortion organization, Planned Parenthood, U.S. Congressman Floyd Fithian, and numerous other speakers were invited to speak to the various classes. For Economic classes, visits to commodity exchanges were taken, and Government classes attended the state legislature.

Art Is . . . Creativity

Art is an area which interests many students. This creative department is headed by Mr. Robert Adams. All students interested in an art field must first complete one year of Arts and Crafts. This is an exploratory course in which students are given the opportunity to learn basic fundamental concepts and skills used in the fine arts and crafts areas.

Students may then progress to one of the special areas they have previously studied, such as ceramics, drawing, jewelry, painting, printmaking, and visual design.

Visual Design is a course that will develop fundamental skills used in advertising. The course also provides insight into the psychology used in influencing consumers.

Studio Art is a course that provides the student with the opportunity to concentrate on and utilize all of his skill in one of the many art fields at Jeff High School.

Bronchos Make Music

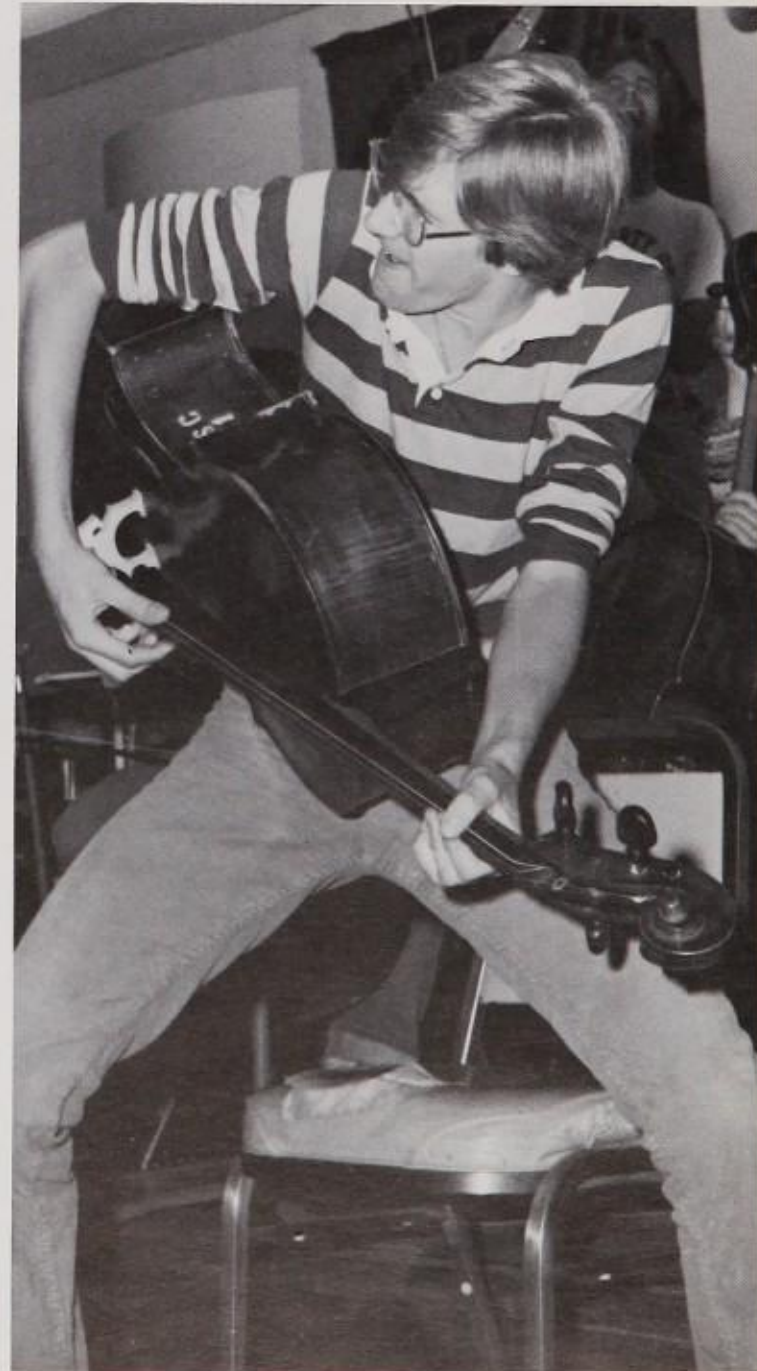

Mr. Branson threatens students.

Music is a part of everyone's life. There are all types of music to suit all kinds of people. Jeff High School has been fortunate enough to have one of the best music departments in the state. The head of the choral department is Mr. Richard Jaeger. Working with him in the choral department are Mrs. Jean Branson and Mr. Gary Branson. Together, these three musicians work with students to produce many top performing groups which serve both the school and the community. The main performing choral groups are A Cappella Choir, Voices of Jeff, Swing Choir, and Varsity Singers. As sophomores, students are basically trained in sight reading, thus producing better performances when they are juniors and seniors.

The instrumental department is made up of the many bands and the orchestra. Heading this fine department and instructing the orchestra is Mr. Thomas Dick. Mr. Gary Wishmeyer is the director of the Broncho Marching Band, which performs at many community activities, parades, and home football games.

The music department at Jeff High School, besides its excellent facilities, is very well staffed. Students learn a lot about music and performing. Most of all, however, they learn how to cooperate and have fun with a group of people their own age. For these reasons, those of us at Jeff feel our music department is one of the best.

Bob Martin gets down to the beat during orchestra.

Home Economics

Jefferson's Home Economics program covers thirteen different co-educational areas. Although every course is an elective, twenty-three per cent of the student body was enrolled in some part of the program. Courses range from the traditional clothing and cooking classes to child care, interior decorating, and design. The most popular course this year seemed to be Senior Foods, which concentrates on the preparation of the meal and then eating it.

Home Economics is a very practical and important field in which to have a good background, and these courses continue to profit Jefferson High School students after graduation.

Industrial Arts

The Industrial Arts Department has eight different areas of study and is headed by Mr. Robert Leavitt. The courses include Basic Shop, Woodworking, Power Mechanics, Electronics, Drafting, Graphic Arts, Machine Shop, and Industrial Coop Training (ICT). Industrial Art's courses are courses needed by everyone, and they should be considered as college preparatory, even though they are electives. Graphic Arts does all printing for the entire school. The Basic Shop program has been expanded, and it focuses on home maintenance and repairs. All of these courses benefit students later in life because students learn to build and do repairs themselves. This is a great field because students can make things the way they want them, and they can repair many things themselves—at the same time, they save on expenses.

Health And P.E. Make Sound Minds And Bodies

Health and Basic P.E., required for all sophomores, encourage a healthy attitude among students. These classes introduce many new students to the facilities available at Jeff. Swimming and gymnastics are a few activities that keep sophomores busy for one semester. Advanced P.E. lets the students specialize in one area of physical education.

Health can be taken either in summer school or as a one semester course during the sophomore year. It emphasizes nutrition and good grooming. These courses are not only helpful, but many times a lot of fun. Department heads for the 1977-78 year were Mr. Jack Schult; P.E. and Mr. Phil Hurt; Health.

Business...Business... BUSINESS

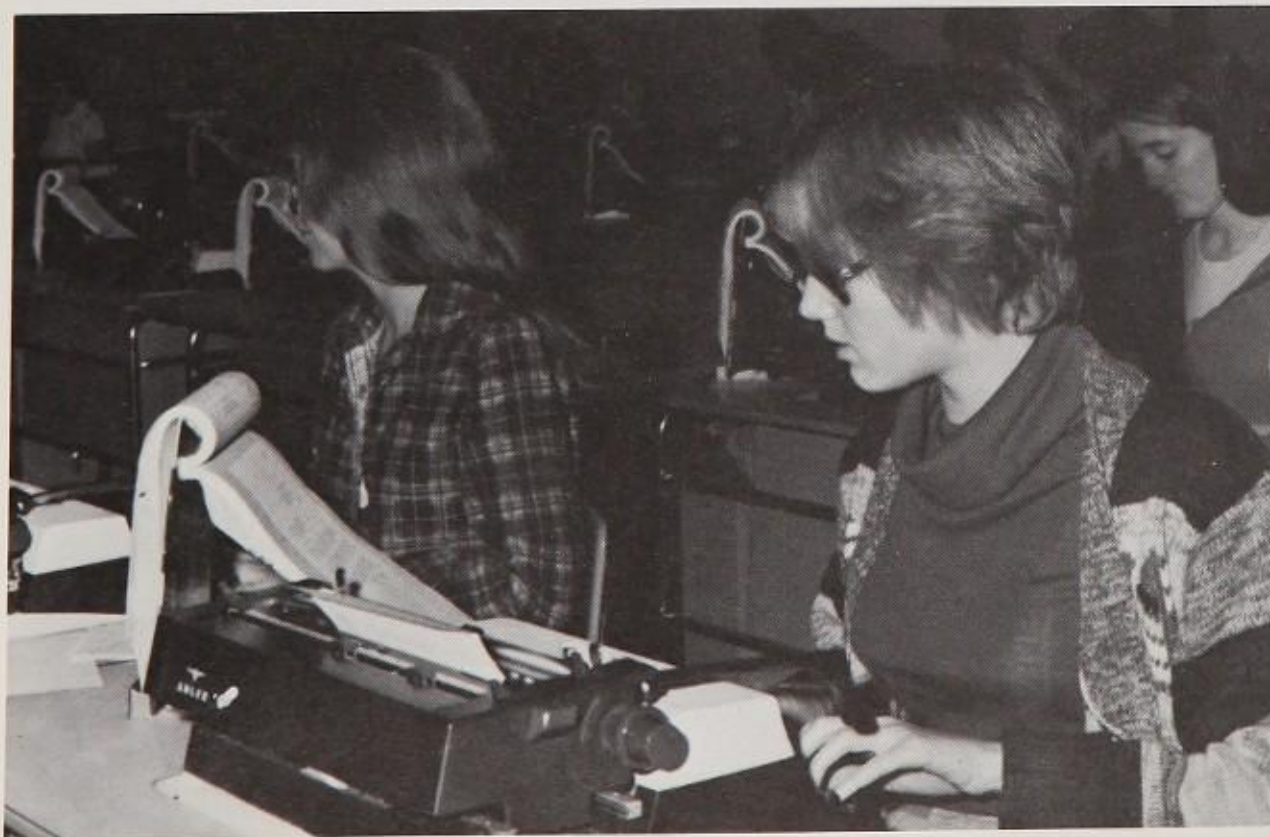

The 1977-78 school year turned out to be another success for the business department by preparing students for college and teaching students useful skills for their future lives. Some of the courses offered were typing, shorthand, accounting, and recordkeeping. Other courses enabled students to go on to business-related jobs as soon as they graduated.

This year's staff included Mr. Ernest Cortner, Mrs. Mary Jane Boyle, Mr. Mike

Bridges, Mr. Greg Fisher, Miss Diane Freshour, Mr. Arnold Harlan, Mrs. Mary Beth Long, Mr. James Stalker, and Mrs. JoAnn Grant. This staff encouraged students and gave them a better perspective of the business world. Mr. Ernest Cortner, department head, summed up the year by saying, "Jeff has one of the best Business Education Departments in the State."

Industrial Cooperative Training (ICT) is a program for graduating seniors who are interested in industry or health related jobs. These students normally work during the morning and afternoon hours, depending on their school class schedules.

ICT students take a class that helps them with their work and lives. Over half of these students belong to VICA (Vocational Industrial Clubs of America). Club members also have a chance to compete in Regional, State, and National Competition.

Mr. Philip Burket sponsors the club, with help from President, Scott Beutler; Vice-President, Karen Strain; Secretary, Tami Armstrong; and Treasurer, Peggy Vessels.

The DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) Club is made partly of Distributive Education students who are seniors and who are interested in a career in marketing. This program is set up so that the students are learning through the club and the class, as well as through practical experience, and enjoying it.

Competition throughout the program is important; buying, selling, and also important measures stressed in the club.

This year, a junior DECA Club was added to help juniors, who were planning to go on in the program next year, to better understand DECA.

DECA's civic project this year was a rocking chair marathon to raise money for Muscular Dystrophy. This 24-hour project was held at the Tippecanoe Mall.

Once again the secretaries in all offices did a great job. There were two new secretaries this year; Mrs. Gina Savage operated the switchboard and Mrs. Beverly Kensinger was Mr. William Levering's secretary. Mrs. Mary Beth Wishmeyer took attendance. Mrs. Linda Mroczynski had responsibility in the Book Rental Office. Mr. Dennis Blind's secretary was Mrs. Judith Rogers; Mrs. Laura Bounds held the responsibility of the registrar. Mrs. Marge Walkey was in charge of the Guidance Office, while Mrs. Charlotte Yost managed the IMC and Mrs. Marian Howell worked in the Athletic Office.

The Cafeteria staff did a great job in serving students here at Jeff. The staff worked very hard in making nutritious, Grade A lunches. Mrs. Rosemary Walter supervised here at Jeff this year while Mrs.

Thelma Muston was the Food Director for all Lafayette schools.

This year's custodial staff again kept the school very clean. Mr. Kenny Kirts was the head custodian.

Two security guards kept the parking lot under complete control. Mr. Roy Cagle returned to his job as a guard this year, while Mr. Don Barker was new to the ranks here at Jeff.

Hey, Look

Hey, look at us! We're keeping busy. It's a wonder that we have any free time at all, for Jeff offers us a wide variety of clubs and organizations to join. The major problem for us Jeff students isn't finding out what to do with our free time but finding out how to budget the time we do have. Whether club membership is by invitation, like the National Honor Society, or by a student's initiative, like the Spanish Club, there is always some club that a student can join and feel accepted in. A prime objective of all the clubs is to enrich the students' minds with information not gained between 8:15 and 2:45. Having fun and meeting new friends are two other "requirements" expected of all members.

If a student doesn't happen to gain any knowledge from his club, it is almost a certainty that he has become an accomplished salesman. Magazines, Gummi bears, yearbooks, M & M's, Broncho t-shirts, and Gallop tickets are only a few items off of a long list of merchandise "peddled" this year. But earning money naturally means spending money and having fun. Picnics, year-end banquets, various pizza parties throughout the year, and field trips constituted the bulk of many clubs' expenses.

From the academically-inclined clubs to the social clubs, Jeff students have numerous clubs to devote their precious time to. It is fitting that we can say, "Hey, look at us! We're keeping busy."

Joe Martin Leads Student Council

Student Association Council is an organization whose purpose is to provide representation for students. In this way students learn about privileges, rights, and responsibilities in a democratic government. Student council is principally concerned with activities which affect the student body.

Annual activities of the SAC include: financial aid for homecoming decorations, supervision of all class elections, Operation Santa Claus, scheduling of all convocations, operation of the snack bar, and the "Little 100" bicycle race.

One of the many major revisions which the SAC worked on this year was the reviewing of the possible policy changes concerning final examinations.

The SAC has completed another successful year with the help of Mr. George Newell, advisor, and Miss Jean Hilkert, co-advisor. The officers heading the SAC this year were Joe Martin, President; Kerry Dickson, vice-president; Jane Fitzgerald, recording secretary; Susan Hamilton, corresponding secretary; and Cheri Porter, treasurer.

¿Qué Pasa En El Club De Español?

The Spanish Club, consisting of students who are interested in the Spanish culture and language, started out the 1977-78 school year with some fresh and interesting ideas. The president, Lily Bejarano, was aided in her duties by officers Doreen Baer, vice-president; Queta Smith, secretary; Jackie Madaus, publicity chairperson; and Suzy Vaughan, social chairperson. Miss Donna Reseigh acted as faculty sponsor.

Because of the continuous enthusiasm and cooperation shown by members in the club's projects and activities, the club kept active throughout the year.

This year began with the annual Tri-Lingual picnic at Happy Hollow Park. The club also made a trip to Indianapolis to see the Flamenco Ballet, celebrated Christmas with a Mexican Fiesta, attended a Chicago Cubs baseball game, and ate at a typical Cuban restaurant. To end the year, the club held a pig roast at Suzy Vaughan's farm.

Other projects of the group were selling M&M's and Reese cups, donating $50.00 to Operation Santa Claus, and sponsoring an essay contest in which the winner won a $100.00 scholarship to go to Mexico with Mr. Sosa over spring break.

Academic Students Recognized

The National Honor Society serves to recognize and honor those students who have excelled academically. Its members consist of the top six percent of the senior class and the top four percent of the junior class. These students are intelligent individuals filled with strong leadership qualities.

Since its members are always involved in the various school activities, there is not much time for the Honor Society to engage in many projects. Each year they do find time to ride in the "Little 100", usher at ninth grade parent orientation, and occasionally exchange students for a day with other schools. The juniors have the honor of ushering at commencement ceremonies. This year the members were also honored with a banquet.

During the course of the 1977-78 school year, Cheri Porter served as president. She was assisted by vice-president Carol Kriebel and secretary-treasurer Beth Kaser. Mr. Kenneth Conkling acted as faculty sponsor.

Hard-Working German Club

Now, what do most people think of when someone mentions "German Club?" Delicious candy, of course! The German Club sells such goodies as Gummi Bears, softi-chews, El Gaucho bubble gum (sounds really German, doesn't it folks?), and Toblerone chocolate bars. Believe it or not, the club brings in quite a pile of money from candy sales (about twelve hundred dollars). The German Club joined in other fun activities earlier in the year, among them two car washes. Their first car wash wasn't as big a success as the second. By "stealing" customers from the speech team's car wash, the German Club cashed in big. All together, between the two car washes, the German Club made about two hundred dollars. Also, the German Club sold regular and Advent calendars.

With all that selling going on, someone is bound to ask where do all those hard-earned "franks" go, and is the German Club all work and no play? Fear not! The German Club does enjoy itself, and how. Earlier in the year, the German Club held a picnic and had a fine time. Later on, the German Club had another picnic, but this time the two other language clubs joined them in their enjoyment.

Again the German Club called their language friends to help them play, only this time the subject was soccer instead of picnics. The German Club teamed up with the Spanish Club in a losing effort to beat the French Club. The German Club also managed to fully indulge itself later on in the year at its annual Traditional German Christmas dinner. The club also planned a spring trip.

The hard working people who kept the club together this year were Cheri Porter, president; Sharon Nelson, vice-president; Jane Fitzgerald, secretary; Cathy Stanwyck, treasurer; and Mr. Raymond McGlothlin, sponsor.

French Club - We Are The Champions

The French are traditionally known for their active participation in sword fights, defending their fair ladies, and dueling. This year our own French Club rose to a challenge from the German and Spanish Clubs. The challenge wasn't in sword fighting, defending fair maidens, or dueling with pistols; but, in a way, it was a duel, one of wits and skill on the soccer field. The battles were fierce and wild and they lasted throughout the afternoon's light. The French Club fought admirably, and the German and Spanish Clubs could not withstand the French Club's onslaught. In the end, the French Club came out on top winning two games out of three.

The French are also known for their love of food and fun. Our French Club this year wine and dined at the trilingual picnic; they also held a breakfast near Christmas.

The people striving to keep the French Club ahead this year were Karen Cataldo, president; Susie Boler, vice president; Treva Kendall, secretary; Danny Loveless, treasurer; and sponsor Mrs. Brammell.

Scouts Aid Personnel In Offices

Students who wished to do so could give up their study halls to become office scouts. These scouts were used in the General Office, Guidance Office, Athletic Office, Health Center and IMC. Student scouts were kept busy running errands, answering the phone, delivering passes or anything else that needed to be done. These students escaped the confines of a study hall and, at the same time, provided a useful service.

Art Club Designs

Art Club spent the year learning about the different areas of art. Members met every other week. Activities this year consisted of visits to the Historical Museum, Kittles Furniture, Interior Objects, and Conner's Prairie in Indianapolis. The Art Club's big trip was to Chicago in the Spring. Students visited the Chicago Art Institute, attended a dinner theater and spent their spare time shopping and sightseeing.

The Art Club raised money for all its activities by selling cheese and silk screening tee shirts for all interested organizations. Art Club was led by Mr. Terry Jackson, sponsor; Penny Rockhill, president; Tim Dellinger, vice president; Tina Overley, secretary; Sandy Vankretschmar, treasurer; and Janelle Wolf and Robin Ralston, historians.

Caduceus Club Aids Others

The Caduceus Club, sponsored by Mrs. Sally McIntire, enabled students to explore and learn about health careers through trips and various activities.

Some of these activities included a trip to a hospital emergency and x-ray department and to an annual convention held in Indianapolis each spring. Caduceus Club members also made Christmas gifts which they delivered personally to the Home Hospital patients.

This year's officers were Carol Jamison, president; Chris MacLennan, vice-president; Mary Jane Strunk, secretary; and Dana Douglas, treasurer. These officers and other members kept busy by attending workshops and by pursuing their own personal health careers.

Gerst Leads Sunshine Society

Spreading happiness to all, this year's Sunshine Society contributed much time and effort to many school projects and to the needs of others.

Many projects were included on this year's agenda which all proved to be successful. Although the Gallop was the main project, Homecoming mums and Valentine carnations were sold. Bake sales, operation Santa Claus, and donations to Riley Hospital also took place. In addition to these projects, a District Convention of all Sunshine Society members was held at Jeff.

In election of officers, Mary Jane Gerst was elected president, Karla Kelley, vice-president; Char Halsema, secretary; Beth McKibben, treasurer; and Jennifer McKenzie, publicity chairman. Ms. Diane Freshour, sponsor of Sunshine, and board members also put forth effort that was vital in all projects.

Board Sponsors Homecoming

Did you ever wonder who produced those many pep session skits? Or, have you ever thought about who brought Jeff those sleek Corvettes, on which Homecoming queen candidates rode? Composed of all past and present cheerleaders, Guard and block captains, and student representatives, the Sports Advisory Board is one organization of which many students may not be aware!

This year the Board was involved early in its work with Jeff's traditional Homecoming. Board members found they had to arrange everything from the pep session to the very crown atop the queen's head!

In addition to Homecoming festivities, the Board was responsible for every pep session throughout the year. Other "unsung" duties included scheduling fan buses, making signs, and putting up locker decorations. To aid them financially in their job of promoting school spirit, members sold Broncho license plates and tourney buttons.

Seniors Kelly Dodds and Gloria Robledo were co-chairmen for the 1977-78 school year; Michelle Bunting served as secretary. Mrs. Mary Beth Long sponsored the Board.

The Advisory Board's main spring-time duty was that of screening cheer-leading candidates. No matter what the Board involved itself in, however, Jeff students can be assured of one thing: those pep session skits and Homecoming queen candidates didn't just spring out of mid-air!

Guard's Time Will Tell

Girls who participated in Jeff Guard this year were seen at every girls' and boys' swim meet. They could be spotted there timing, recording, and running errands at meets in their black shorts and white Jeff Guard t-shirts. These seventy girls were kept busy the full 77-78 year.

Guard captains for this year were senior Julie Schilling and junior Diane Schoff. Sponsors were Mrs. Stephanie Korshott and Mrs. Charlotte McGaw.

J-Club Sponsors Ropeholers And Bonfire

This year the J-Club was quite active in extra-curricular activities. To start the year off, they sponsored the Homecoming Bonfire, at which a triditional old outhouse was burned. Many members also participated in the boys' block at basketball games and held ropes at halftime. Later on in the year, the club rode in the Little 100 bike race.

Along with teacher-sponsor Bob Downing, the officers of the club were Ed Cramer, president; Dave Chase, vice-president; Ray Marsh, secretary-treasurer; and Greg Newton and Bruce Hobson, sargeants of arms.

To be a member of the J-Club, a student must letter in a varsity sport and be active in the sports program. This year over 100 students were members of the club.

A Cappella Creates Moods And

Spirit was added to the school year, once again, on behalf of the A Cappella Choir. Consisting of seventy-one members, selected by audition, the choir was directed by Mr. Richard Jaeger, while Mr. Gary Branson served as accompanist and Mrs. Jean Branson as choreographer. Led by Tim Dellinger, President; Terri Delay, Vice President; Kim Chapman, Secretary; Carol Kriebel, Treasurer; Sherry Alexander, Librarian; Doreen Baer, Historian; and David Chase, Business Manager, the choir raised funds by selling cheese, sausage, and tickets to their performances. Profits from these projects became credit toward a trip to New Orleans on April 6.

Singing legitimate, jazz, and pop music, the group joyfully presented their shows: "Pajama Game," "Christmas Mood," and "Spring Spectacular." They also participated in the All City Choir Festival and traveled to nearby junior high schools to present convocations.

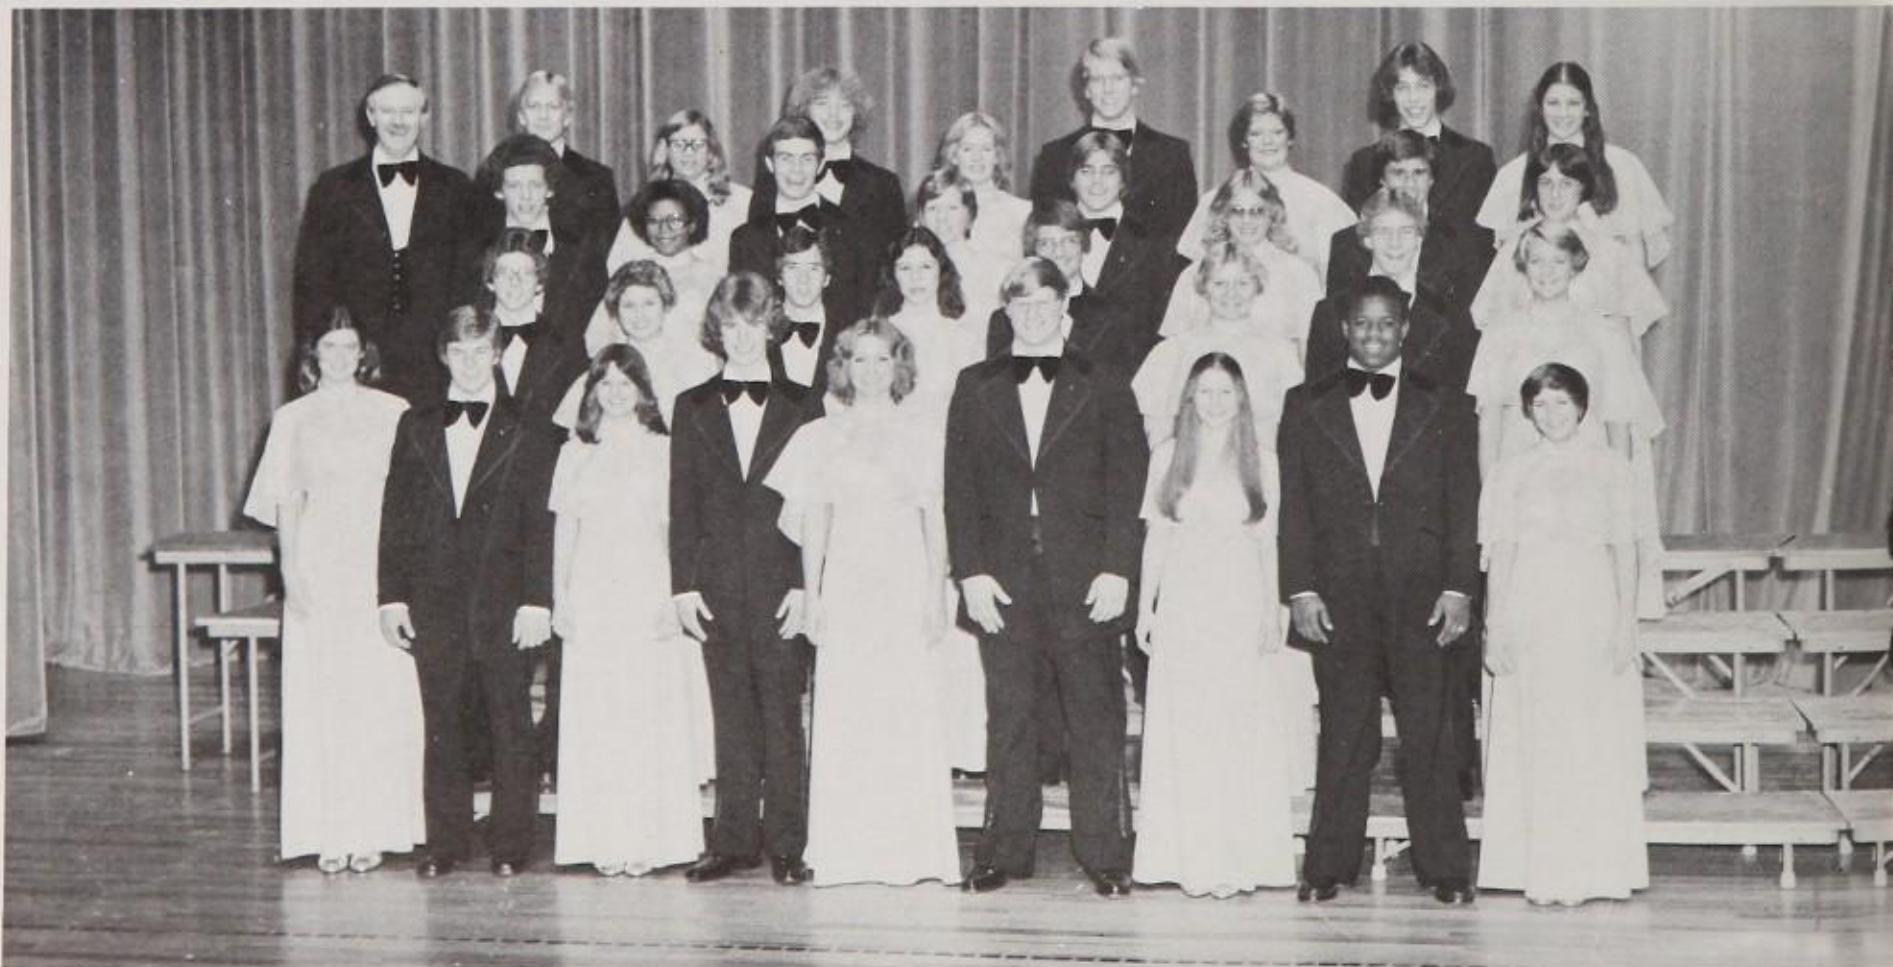

While Bruce Tipton provided the acoustics, accompanied by Ted Schilling on bass, dancers Jim Hoskins, Jennifer McKenzie, Tim Dellinger, Terri Delay, Randell O'Neal, Carrie Henck, Don King, Debbie Rathburn, Phil Habig, and Gretchen Strahle exuberantly helped the beat go on. Thus, if one had passed by the choir room during fourth hour his year, one surely would have heard the select voices of A Cappella hard at work.

Varsity Singers - A Special Kind Of Group

Varsity Singers is a very special group including both talented juniors and seniors. What's so special about these twenty-three boys and girls? Their combined variety of talents enable them to sing without any type of instrument playing along with them. The group is highly selective, the requirement for entry being an audition. Mr. Branson, a well known pianist of the area, is the group's director.

This year the group's repertoire consisted of music by Brahms, Bach, Schumann, and many other composers of note.

From its performances, the choir raised money which was given for the use of various fraternal and civic organizations. Church services, the Christmas show, and the choral and Religious Arts Festivals are just a few of the activities in which the choir took part. With the money they saved, the Varsity Singers held an end-of-the-year fling, an annual canoe trip.

Recipe For An Entertainment Special

Combine the following ingredients: Fifty two talented juniors and seniors; Mrs. Branson, a demanding and hardworking director; Mr. Branson, Jeff's gifted pianist; and a young, yet experienced, drummer Randy Keen. Put the mixture under bright lights on a stage, and the final product is an evening's skillful display of singing and dancing by the Voices of Jeff.

Voices this year performed three main types of music: popular, secular and sacred. The choir participated in many shows despite some weather problems. They made appearances at the PTA, the basketball preview, the Christmas Moods program, the Elks, Howard Johnson's East, St. James Lutheran Church, the All-City Festival, the Music Contest, and the Arts Tour of Chicago.

'Movin Up' is a smaller group formed by four members of Voices. In it are: Susie Boler, Nancy Scott, Diane Wilder, all juniors, and Jill Andrews, a senior. Each plays guitar, sings, and composes. A special aspect of this group is that a majority of the music they use is their own material. However, no matter what type of music Voices members create, they always manage to come across with their own special blend of entertainment.

Swing Choir - A New Addition

Thirty-five juniors and seniors formed the Swing Choir, which was a new addition to Jeff this year. The group, under the direction of Jean Branson, was accompanied by Gary Branson on the piano while Randy Hill played the drums.

The boys wore burgundy corduroy vests and pants, and ivory shirts. The girls dressed in ivory dresses and burgundy sandals. The group performed in the annual "Christmas Mood" program, in the All-City Choral Festival, and for local organizations and service clubs.

Living up to its name, the Swing Choir concentrated most of its time on singing pop music and dancing.

Bransons Lead Soph Ensemble

The 1977-78 Girls' and Boys' Ensemble was selected on the combined basis of their auditions conducted during their freshman year and recommendations made by their junior high directors. The groups, which had one-hundred and four members, were under the direction of Jean and Gary Branson.

The class studied all types of music that included both pop and classical songs. They performed in the mass choir of the annual "Christmas Mood" program and in the All-City Choral Festival.

The group's main concentration was in music training. They were taught sight singing, proper vocal development, and music theory and literature. The year climaxed with auditions made for one of the performing choirs in March.

The Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Richard Jaeger, is primarily concerned with learning the basic fundamentals of music, including the reading of music. This choir serves as a training group for young, promising singers who are chosen from auditions made at the end of their freshman year.

The Glee Club did very little performing in public since it is a training choir. However, the Glee Club did participate in the annual "Christmas Mood" show on December 17, 18, and 19. The All-City Choral Festival, which took place in March, was another big event for this choir. The festival included other choral groups from Jeff as well as the area junior high schools' choirs.

At the end of the year, the members of the Glee Club auditioned for places in the more advanced choirs; and the majority of these young singers found a pleasant reward after this year of hard work and struggles.

Glee Club members intently watch their leader, Mr. Jaeger, as they strain for the correct note.

This year the Men's Chorus had 13 members and the Women's Chorus was represented with 28 singers. The Men's and Women's Chorus is very similar to the Glee Club; they participate in approximately the same number of performances and concentrate on the same music concepts.

Jeff's Orchestra Plays With Symphonic Ease

At the beginning of the year, orchestra members made a friendly gesture toward new incoming sophomores. They had a hayride in which all could get better acquainted. The orchestra took part in both Fall and Spring Concerts, and optional to members was a district state contest which gave the students a chance to test their musical ability. Volunteers helped with this year's play by playing in the pit crew. The big trip orchestra took this year was to St. Louis, Missouri. There they enjoyed the sights, and they made performance stops on the way back. Kim McPherson, senior, was the only member to participate in all-state orchestra. To receive this honor, Kim had to submit a tape with a sample of her playing.

Mr. Dick, in his sixth year at Jeff, was the director of this fine group. Officers for this year were: Kim McPherson, president; John Glavin, vice-president; Liz Leill, secretary; Bunny Blair, librarian; Sherry Bell, treasurer; and Lisa Trenkle, historian.

Symphonic Wind Ensemble

Jenny Dible and Cindy May take time out for a breather.

If you've ever been in the band room during sixth hour, you have probably heard the sounds of the Jefferson Symphonic Wind Ensemble. This band is Jefferson's finest band, and all 54 members are proud to belong to such a prestigious organization.

The 1978 Symphonic Wind Ensemble partook in many activities throughout its season. Although members juggled a hectic schedule of concerts, a trip to Ball State and St. Louis was planned. Organizational concerts also brought forth the individual talents of the members. The annual selling of fruitcakes brought needed money to the band.

This year's officers for the band included Vic King, president; Kellie Applegate and Kate Edwards, secretaries; Jana Bailey, treasurer; and Anna Fisher and Diane Stevenson, historians.

Mr. Gary Wishmeyer steered the band into a new and smaller group this year. Although the band consisted of fewer members, it was evident to all concert goers that the quality of the band's music remained spectacular.

And It Came True

The Jefferson Marching Broncho Band shined bigger and brighter than ever this year. They set high goals from the beginning that were only achieved through endless effort and long, but enthusiastic, hours of practice.

The band consisted of 194 members, which included eight majorettes, 16 flag girls, three rifle girls, two drum majors, and a twirler. Mr. Gary Wishmeyer headed the band while Mr. Thomas Dick served as assistant. Mr. Dan Wilhoite and Mr. and Mrs. Al Jones were also beneficial to the band.

Money-raising projects for the band included the selling of greeting cards, sausage, and cheese. This money enabled the band to compete in the "Festival of Stars" competition held in Atlanta, Georgia. There the band placed third out of twenty-six bands in a national competition and missed the over-all award by only four points. The band also participated in half-time football shows, the Star City Festival of Drum and Bugle Corps, the Attica Potawatami Festival, the Christmas parade, the Kokomo Haworth Invitational, the ISMA District Competition, and the State contest.

The band had a miraculous amount of support this year from the BOPA, Band, Orchestra, Parents Association. A warm welcome-back party from Georgia held by the student body and BOPA was greatly appreciated by all band members. Mr. Gary Wishmeyer complemented an unforgettable year by saying, "This year has been a giant step forward toward our ultimate goal of being a top notch competition band."

Band "Peps" Bronchos

Home basketball games were made a lot more exciting by the Jefferson High Pep Band. The band, led by Mr. Gary Wishmeyer, consisted of 28 members. They played for pep sessions, before the game, during time outs and combined with the cheerleaders and the block section for many enthusiastic cheers. The Mickey Mouse theme song was once again very popular. This year the Pep Band and the cheerleaders added to the fun by wearing Mickey Mouse ears. The Pep Band once again sponsored the annual Donkey Basketball game. Members of the band battled against members of the faculty, but alas, luck was with the teachers and they won. Without the Pep Band there would have been a lot less excitement. Many thanks go to the band for preserving that winning Broncho spirit.

Varsity Band Performs

The Jefferson High School Varsity Band met daily second hour during the second semester. Auditions were held at the end of the marching band season, and students were placed according to experience. The Varsity Band made money this year by selling fruitcakes, Christmas cookies, stationery, and cheese and sausage. The band spent their rehearsals learning music, improving techniques, and preparing for their concerts. Varsity Band consisted of 59 members and was directed by Mr. Gary Wishmeyer.

Broncho Broadcasters Back Students

Kerry Dickson reads the mid-day news for WJEF.

Forty to fifty hardworking Jeff students made up the Broncho Broadcasters under the supervision of Mr. William Fraser and Mr. Stevan Speheger.

These students produced a daily program called "Today at Jeff." They taped the show fourth hour everyday, and the program was then shown at the beginning of every hour. The crew of "Today at Jeff" consisted of Jay Smith, Tammy Plantenga, Doug Rady, Rick Denhardt, Kerry Dickson, and Joe Martin, with the help from other Radio-TV assistants.

The staff officers for the 1977-78 year were: Joe Martin, Program Director; Bob Trout, Student Chief Engineer of Radio; Douglas Rady, Student Chief Engineer for TV; Jay Smith, Sports Director; and Bill Joyner, News Director.

Speech Team Strives For 300 Points

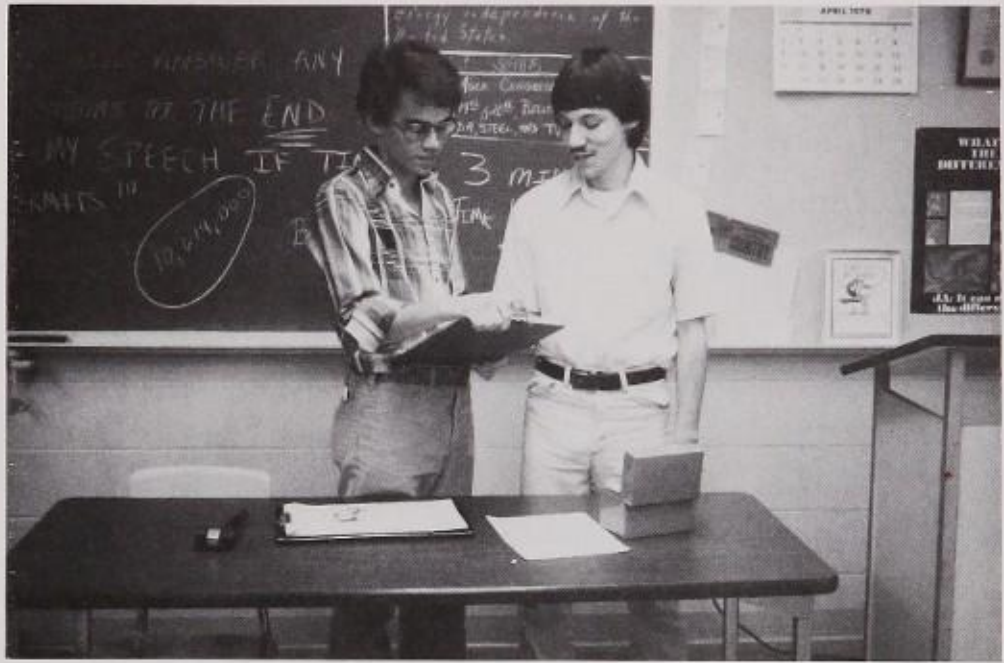

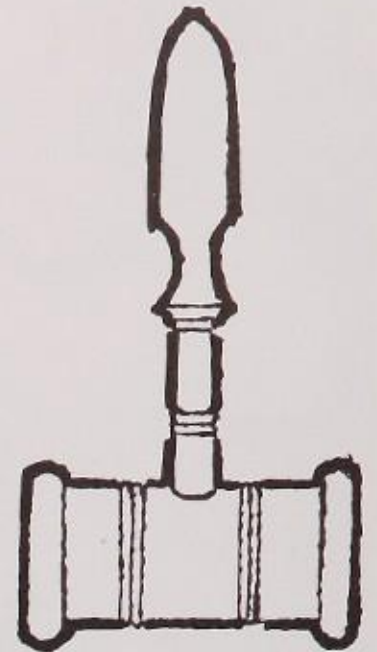

Sandy Cox and Steve McQuire are practicing to become the Dramatic Duo of Jeff's Speech Team.

This year eighty-two enthusiastic students composed the Speech Team. These students ranged from freshmen to seniors. The students elected the following people as their officers: Ted Fenstermacher, president; Stuart Jones, vice-president; Brad Hull, treasurer; and Joe Martin, secretary. They were under the supervision of Mr. James Hawker.

These people competed in meets with other schools during the year. Speech team members received points for participating in meets. When he received a total of three hundred NFL points, including fifty in Debate or Student Congress, a student could receive his "J" letter.

Mr. Hawker commented, "I am pleased with the number of people who want to learn a skill."

There's Talent Behind The Scenes

Many long hours were spent behind the scenes in Jeff's auditorium. The theatre assistants contributed some of their weekends and even long hours after school preparing for the productions put on at Jeff. One of the biggest projects was the "Pajama Game." The students also helped with the Lafayette Symphony's concerts. Under the supervision of Mr. George Haley, the students managed the sound equipment, lighting, and staging for all of the productions.

Mary Rose Conti adds her finishing touch.

The Booster was once again a big hit during lunch hours here at Jeff. Many people enjoyed reading the articles and seeing their own peers in a newspaper. This was Miss Cindy Dipert's second year as sponsor. The editors of the Booster were news, Diane Stephen and Teresa Ellington; Sports, Keith Reisinger; Features, Jennifer McKenzie; Editorials, Cindy Shaffer; and Business Manager, Mary Rose Conti.

The Booster came out approximately every three weeks, and at the end of a hard year a Publication Banquet was given for the staff.

A Little Magic

A Little Jefferson Players

"Starlight, star bright, first star I see tonight, I wish I may, I wish I might, have the wish I wish tonight." Any wish can come true, no matter how far-fetched or wild it might seem. Whether it's stepping through a looking-glass, zooming to Mars in a rocket, or dreaming for a real son, wishes were meant to come true, and they quite often do. In fact, right here at Jeff the student body has its own "miracle machine" for making dreams come true. The Jefferson Players were this "miracle machine." This year alone they brought to life the traveling shows: "Alice in Wonderland," "Star Trip," and "The Wizard of Oz." From their "big bag" of miracles the "Players" have brought to life "The Crucible" and "Pinocchio" (their big success). The Jefferson Players planned a summer show which had never been done before. Their summer show was "A Dunagree World."

The "miracle makers" at the top were Jill Andrews, president; Tim McCool, vice-president; Kelle Bylsma, secretary; Linda Phillips, treasurer; and Vickie Gilliatt, historian.

"It makes no difference who you are when you wish upon a star . . ." Miracles do come true.

Is True "Labor Of Love"

Krissy Brown

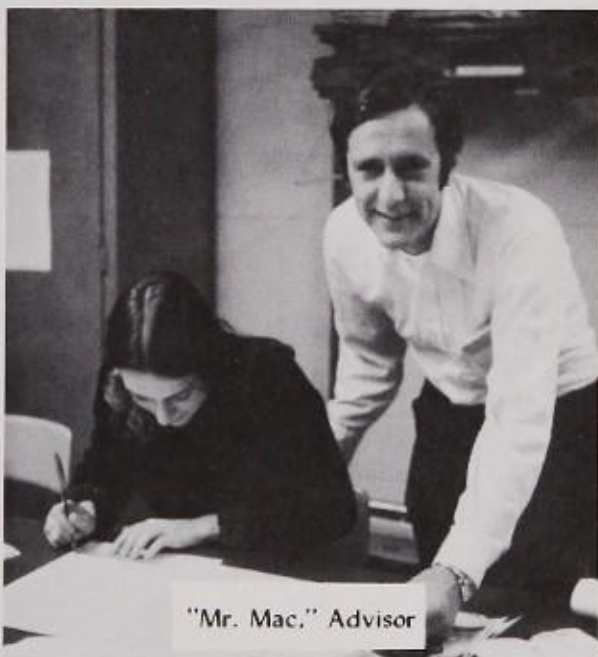

Terri Rayner

In the beginning, everything seemed so new. Layouts, croppers, pica rulers, deadlines—a list of terms very foreign to all but yearbook staffers. Aside from the expected hassles of meeting book deadlines, the weather sent, via Old Man Winter, served to again make matters worse. Nautilus staff members somehow survived the tension, the coal strike, and the snow, however. In the course of a single year, some twenty-eight students discovered yearbook-making to be a true "labor of love."

Hey, Look

"Hey, look at us! Don't we look great? We are the Bronchos, the best team in the state!" shout Lafayette Jefferson fans as they support their teams. This enthusiasm is evident in the big sports such as basketball, football, track, and baseball; but the smaller sports have their fans, too.

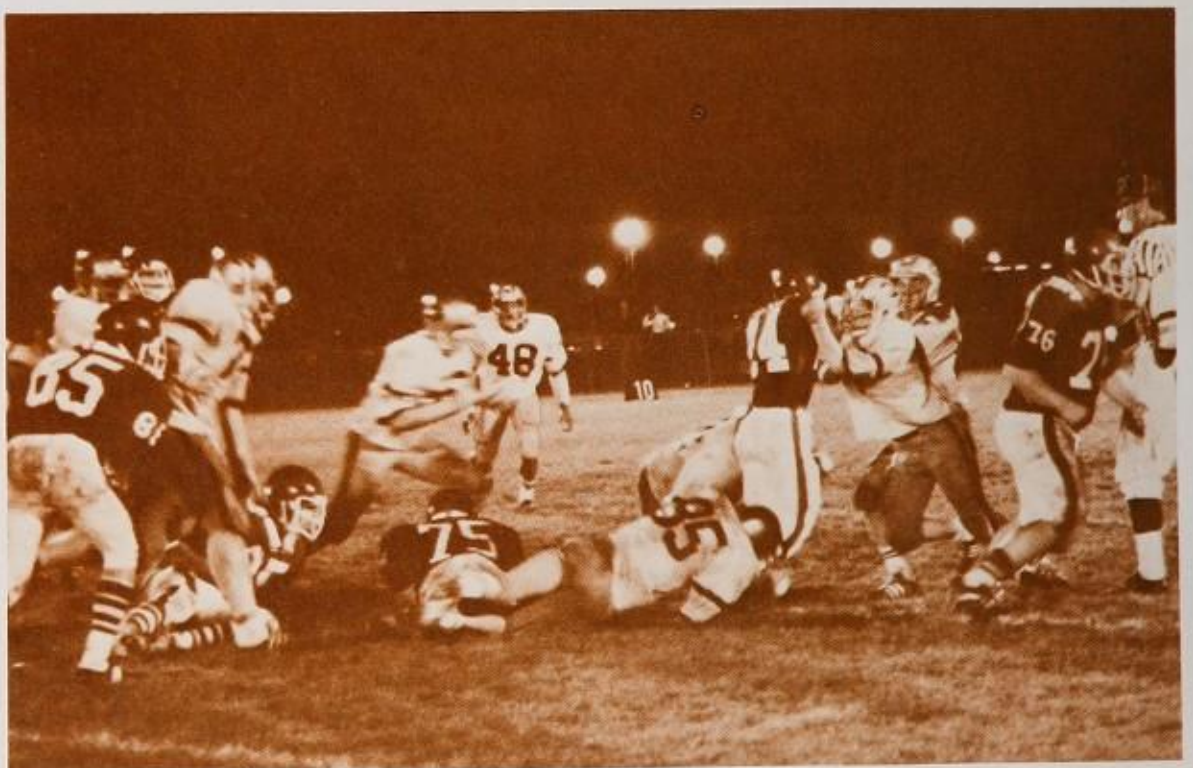

Many generations of Jefferson athletes have striven for victory, and succeeded. The students and alumni pride themselves on the trophy cases, (which line the walls), overflowing with mementos from past victories.

A Jefferson team does not always come out on top. However, the young athletes learn during the course of a season that winning is not everything. One important detail the students realize is that if a person gives his best effort, nothing else matters.

Good sportsmanship is another important aspect of Jeff sports. Jeff students realize that many smaller schools resent that Jeff is larger and has a wider range of athletes. Consequently, these small schools try to degrade Jeff and occasionally succeed when the fans of each school lose their composure. But Jefferson students and athletes take pride in their school and generally good reputation, so they try to curb their so-called "snobbery" for the sake of their school.

The school motto "Jeff excels in many areas" certainly applies to sports. The students who represent Jeff in the athletic department are young people with pride not only in themselves but also in their school.

With such a show of athletic ability, sportsmanship, pride, and a good reputation, students of Jefferson have a right to proclaim, "Hey, look at us!"

CC Team Gains Experience

This year the cross country team ran successfully through the season with a 5-3 record. Coach Phil Hurt felt there was much improvement from last season. The team consisted of all underclassmen, so the outlook for next year should be very good.

The highlight of the year came when junior Kerry Dickson, recipient of the Most Valuable Player Award, competed in the state meet. He was the first runner from Jeff High School since 1949 to go to the state meet as an individual. Kerry placed 21st out of 134, the best in Jeff's cross country history.

With assistance from Mr. Erwin Kretzmeier, Coach Hurt and the team ran from five to twelve miles each day. This practice prepared the team for its meets, in which they ran a two and a half mile course. The main goal for next year is to participate as a team in the state competition.

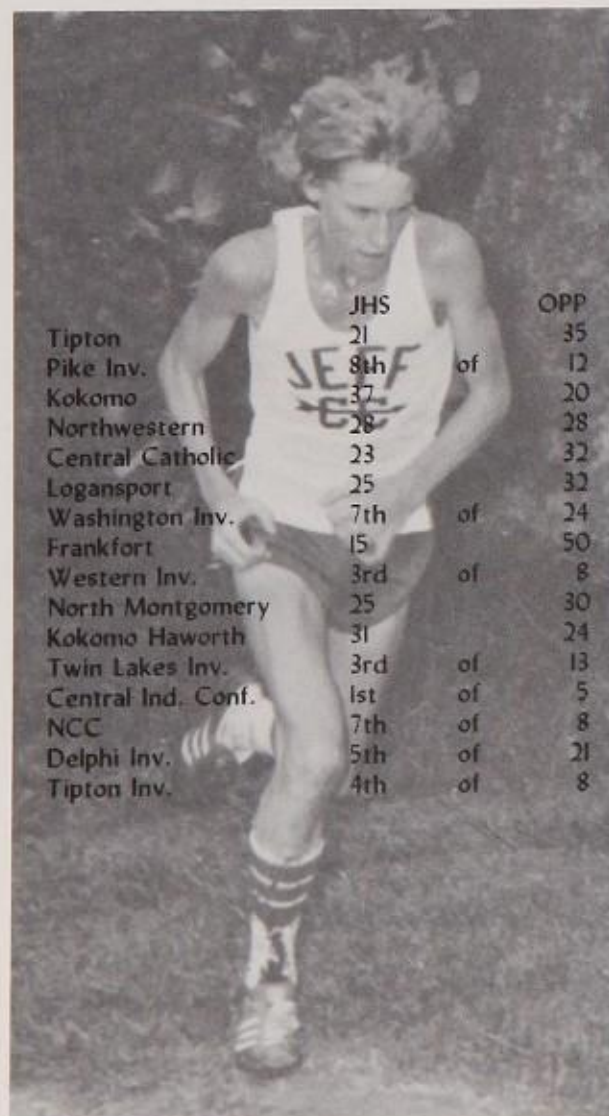

Receiving the Mental Attitude Award this year was Kerry Dickson, while Kenny Danaher and Denny Matson shared the Most Improved Award.

New Coach Serves Netters

Under the direction of new head coach, Dan Clark, the Boys' Tennis team experienced a fine year. There were no returning lettermen, and the team consisted mainly of underclassmen. Bobby Humphreys, senior, earned the number one singles position, with junior Kerry Flowers and freshman Joe Robinson playing number two and three singles, respectively. Senior Mickey Clark and junior Brian Force paired up as the number one doubles team. The number two doubles team consisted of Chris Ryan and Bill Ransom, both juniors. Kent Burget also played, but he was out early in the season with an injury.

The team ended regular season play with a record of 8 wins and 7 losses. In sectional play, the team won its first match over Covington by a score of 5-0. They went on to beat McCutcheon with the same score. The Broncho netters finally met defeat against the West Lafayette Red Devils by a score of 1-4. With five returning lettermen, the outlook for next year should be good.

Chosen for the Most Valuable Player Award was freshman Joe Robinson, while Bobby Humphreys received the C.J. Hopkins Mental Attitude Award. Mickey Clark and Joe Robinson were named all-NCC choices.

The junior varsity, coached by Greg Fisher, posted a record of 10 wins and 5 losses for the season.

Returning to the showers after a long game.

Coached by Linda Hart, the volleyball team started practice in mid-August. Two requirements had to be met by each person before trying out for the team: A good vertical jump and a good running time for the mile. Once past these requirements, the players then went through more rigorous testing sessions for five days. These sessions helped in determining the potential playing ability of each player. The results of the tests aided Coach Hart in the selection of the team. After the team was set, they commenced preparation for the season.

This year the Broncos hosted an eight-team tourney and participated in the first annual NCC Conference tourney. Season play was exciting, challenging and eventful. All of this prepared the Broncos for Sectional play.

Jeff opened Sectionals against Attica, defeated them and went on to their next opponent, C.C., which also fell victim to the power of the Broncos, setting up the final match of the Sectionals. The Broncos met head to head with the West Lafayette Red Devils. Jeff finally lost to West Lafayette and ended the season with 20 wins and 5 losses.

Varsity Awards this year went to Kim Carter, Most Valuable for outstanding leadership, citizenship, academics and playing ability; Barb Deerr for Best Offensive Player; Dona Benham, Best Defensive Player; and Jane Fitzgerald, Most Improved overall. Seniors Barb Deerr and Kim Carter were named to the NCC all-conference team.

Captains this year were Pam Holwerda and Barb Deerr, who provided strength and help throughout the season.

Coach Hart said "The loss of the seniors Holwerda, Deerr, Handy, Carter, Gurley, Runck, Butler and Fitzgerald will be felt greatly next year. Good Job Seniors!"

Kim Carter takes an unexpected time-out.

Golfers Tee Off

The Girl's Golf team got under way this year with practices in August. With Jean Hilkert as their coach, the team set two new records, one of which was a home record of 181, and the other an away total of 166 from a total of nine holes.

Three sophomores and two seniors made up the five-girl team. This was the third year for girls' golf at Jeff and a B-team was a welcome addition.

The team played in the Sectionals, where they took their second championship in three years. They then played in the first Regional tournament ever for girls' golf and emerged as runner-ups. Advancing to the State girls' golf tournament, the Broncho golfers wound up in seventh place, with a dual meet record of eleven wins and one loss for the season.

The misfortune of losing their captain and number one player, Kim Chapman, due to illness certainly did not help this year's team. However, team members kept up their spirit and pulled out a very fine season.

Awards this year went to Beth Burton, Most Valuable; Suzy Vaughan, Most Improved; and Shari Blind and Nancy Williams split the honors of the Mental Attitude Award.

Top five take seventh in state.

After starting out the 5-5 season slowly, the 1977 Varsity Football Team came on strongly at the end, winning four of its last five games and finishing third in the North Central Conference. From an over-all view of the season, Coach Dave Knott commented, "Our comeback was remarkable after the first three games. We could very easily have been 7-0 in the conference, but fumbles killed us in each of our losses. The effort and enthusiasm were with us all year, but thirty-one fumbles meant the difference between a superior season and an average one."

At the Fall Sports Banquet held on November 15, awards for outstanding performances were presented. Ed Cramer walked away with the Most Valuable Award, Most Valuable Offensive Back, and Shared Co-Captain honors with Scott Pulliam. Most Tackle Points Award was handed to Jeff Shake, while Dave Chase earned the Mental Attitude Award. The Most Valuable Offensive Lineman Award was presented to Greg Newton, and the Stars and Footballs Award was received by Tony Roswarski. Dale Mulvey proved that not all of a football player's time is spent on the field as he won the Highest Class Rank Award. In addition to winning these awards, Cramer, Chase, Pulliam, and Roswarski were named to the All-Conference. These awards put the finishing touches to an exciting season.

"Colts" Have Successful Season

The 1977 Junior Varsity Football team recorded a very impressive season of seven wins and two losses. This reserve team was coached by Bob Adams, who also heads the school's Art Department. Assisting Adams was John Mazur, who currently teaches U.S. Government and Current Problems. These two coaches led the team through one of its toughest seasons.

Coach Mazur said that this group of sophomores was great in keeping spirit and showing constant teamwork on the field throughout the season.

Perhaps most importantly, this year's reserve team will also be a great asset to next year's Varsity Team, by filling in empty positions left by this year's graduating seniors.

To say the least, the "Colt" football team can certainly feel proud of the great effort they put forth in 1977.

Football Block Keeps Spirit Through Rain And Cold

Wearing bright red ponchos and white gloves, the 1977 Football Block showed that they could keep the spirit through every type of weather condition. The 182 enthusiastic voices cheered at five home games and one away game, which was held in the pouring rain.

Block practices were held every Wednesday before a home game. The sponsor, Mrs. Mary Beth Long, along with senior block captains, Michelle Bunting and Carrie Henck, and junior block captains, Charlotte Halsema and Stacey Stingley, were the chief organizers. They passed out ponchos, took attendance, and planned seating arrangements.

The season came to an end with a pizza party for the block and football team. This year's block should be proud of the great support they gave the football team.

Grapplers Gain Greatness

Leading the wrestling team to a successful season this year were senior lettermen Ed Cramer, Pat Martin, and Greg Newton. Other senior lettermen were Kevin Clark, Phil Habig, Tim Russell, Todd Stair, and Jay Osterling.

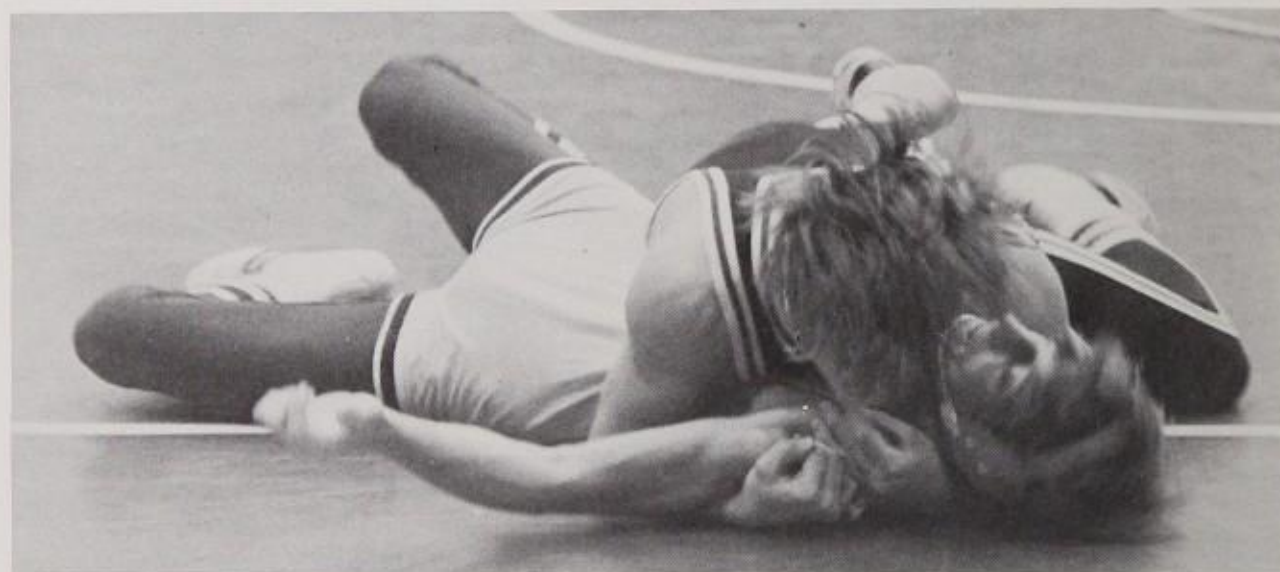

This year the team, coached by Mr. Norman Willey and his assistant Mr. Harold Dickey, won eight meets and lost only five.

In the North Central Conference, the Broncho "grapplers" finished in fourth place out of the eight participating schools.

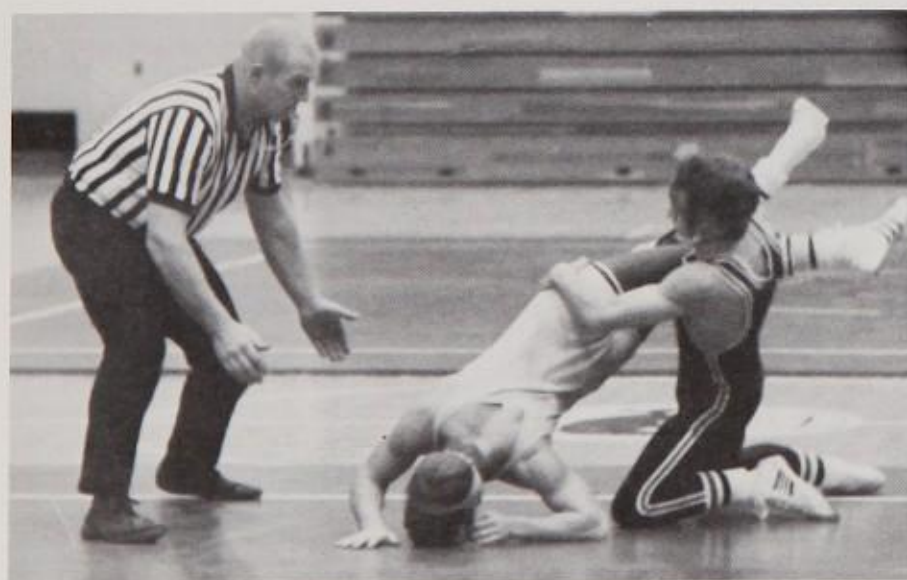

Sectionals were a great success for the '78 Bronchos. They received four first and four second places. This entitled the team to send eight wrestlers to the Regional meet, where seniors Phil Habig, Greg Newton, and Kevin Clark placed third. Pat Martin and Ed Cramer advanced to semi-state, after Martin took second place honors, and Cramer defended his Regional title with a 6-1 decision in the championship round.

Pam Doran acknowledges the approval of the audience.

This year the Jeff gymnastics team displayed an unusual combination of youth, poise, and success. The team was composed of 16 gymnasts, all freshmen and sophomores.

Mrs. Roberta Honegger, who is an elementary physical education teacher, again did an excellent job of coaching the young gymnasts to one of their most successful seasons in recent years. Mrs. Honegger commented on the season of this year's team and said that many of the girls had started training earlier in grade school, thus they were better prepared for the high school caliber of competition.

This year the competition was divided into three divisions: beginning, intermediate, and optional. The optional is the highest level of the three divisions and usually carries the most prestige with it.

Swim Team Sees New Depths

The 1977-78 girls' swim team once again had a fabulous year with a record of fourteen wins and four losses. The team won the North Central Conference, and the relay team consisting of Joan Young, Donna Howe, Monica Heath, and Diane Schoff broke both the conference and school records. The girls also dominated the sectional and placed tenth in the state meet.

An excellent job of coaching was done by Stephanie Korschot; while Cathy Wright and Kim McPherson served as co-captains. Together, these individuals played a big part in keeping Jefferson High School's spirit.

This year's Mental Attitude Awards went to Cathy Wright, Kim McPherson, and Julie Mann. The Most Valuable Award went to Joan Young, Jeff's new outstanding swimmer. Most improved swimmers were junior, Sue Naylor and sophomore Marty Martin.

This team proved that hard work, school spirit, and determination are the ingredients to a winning season.

Tankers Honored With New Coach

Boys get fired up for a swim meet.

Dan Phelps became Jeff's new boys' swimming coach. With Bill Schilling assisting him, the coaches contributed to the success of the 1977-78 year. The team's record was six wins and five losses. The tankers placed second in the North Central Conference. In the sectional, they placed and qualified six swimmers, plus the 200-year medley relay team, for the state finals.

The captains were Alan Haynes, Mike McCool, and Tim Slopsema. They played an important role in maintaining school spirit.

Coach Phelps stated, "The team had an over-all successful performance, and they only lacked in depth."

The twenty-eight member team put forth great effort and the Jefferson High School student body should certainly be proud of this year's team.

Class, Poise, Determination, Made This Year's Team The Best

The 1977-78 Varsity Basketball team may have lacked experience, but they made up for that loss with determination, enthusiasm, skill and most of all Jack Schult's coaching. This year's team was fortunate to have four returning lettermen: Tod Feaster, Jim Mayer, Jay Smith, and Gregg Thomas. Three of the five starters were seniors: Jim Mayer, Rick Rogers, and Jay Smith. Jim Mayer, one of the major assets to the team, showed us all his fine shooting and outstanding jumping ability. Jim's unbelievable long shots saved the Bronchos from a defeat many times. Rick Rogers, one of the hardest workers on the team, had undoubtedly the best attitude. "He is unselfish, and he doesn't feel he has to make every basket; he is happy just as long as the team wins. If he plays well that night, the team plays well," stated Coach Schult. Jay Smith pumped in a lot of points for the Bronchos this year. He played the role of a floor leader and playmaker.

The Bronchos were not only honored to play the number one ranked team, Anderson, but to beat them (51-49) in an overtime was quite an accomplishment for such a young team.

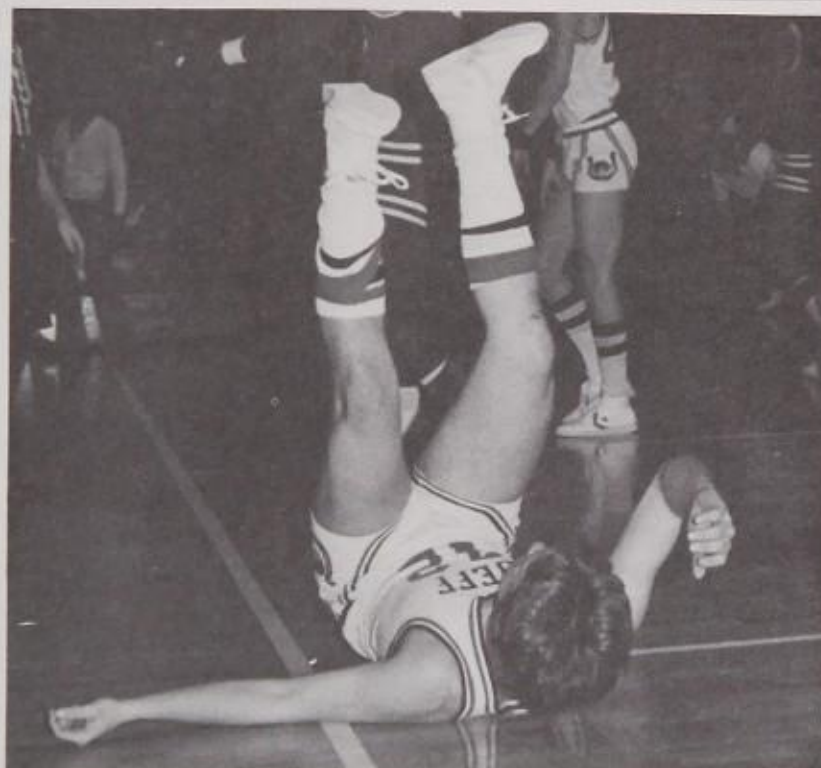

Coach Schult kept the red and black flying high at the state's elite basketball circles. He has coached a team that we are all proud of. The team ended the season with real class-wins. No one could ask for more.

Fisher Heads Junior Varsity

Coaching the 1977-1978 Junior Varsity colts was first-year coach Mr. Greg Fisher. The team consisted of fourteen sophomores and four juniors. The overall record was eight wins and ten losses, but the season included many close games with a total of five overtimes. The Junior Varsity tourney was played at Kokomo, and Jeff won, beating Kokomo Haworth in the first game and Kokomo in the final game. The team proved to be a positive outlook for next year's varsity squad.

Girls Win Third Sectional Crown

Speed and aggressiveness earned the Varsity Girls' Basketball team a 14-4 season. Second year coach Miss Peggy Edwards was assisted by Peggy Edmundson, who had herself played basketball at Jeff. Managers for this year's team were senior Julie Crowden, junior Paula Blickenstaff, and sophomore Robin Mount.

The Junior Varsity, coached by Peggy

Edmundson, enjoyed a season record of 7-5. Five Junior Varsity players dressed for the tourney team this year.

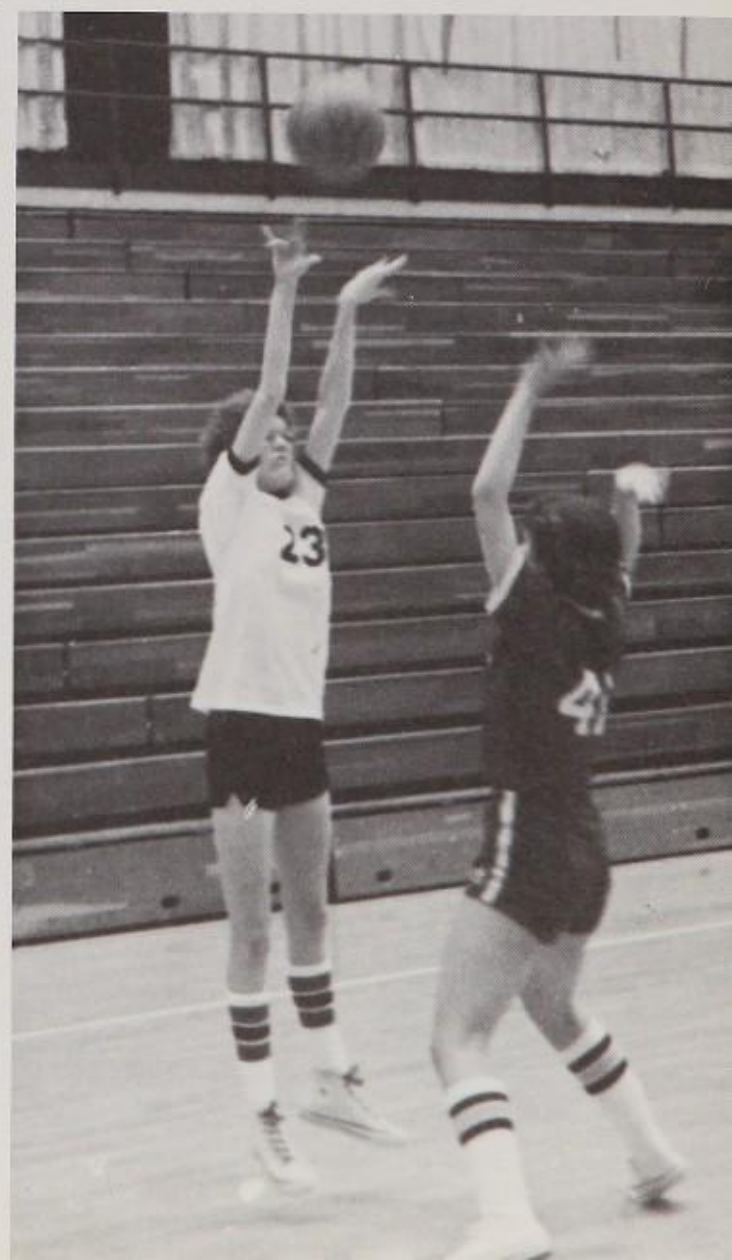

The varsity, led by senior captain Barb Deerr and seniors Kim Carter and Pam Holwerda, captured their third consecutive sectional title before bowing out to Benton Central in the regionals, 60-54. The Bronchos, for the first time, won the Rochester Tourney by beating the host team. This was the first time in five years that Rochester had lost a home game, which no doubt gave the Bronchos a sense of pride. Once more, with seven returning lettermen, the outlook for next year is good.

Broncho Spirit Never Dies

Basketball Block is a girls' organization set up to create spirit and enthusiasm and to give those who can't join sports an opportunity to be a part of the excitement which has always been a Jeff tradition.

Without the exhilaration of the 150 sophomore, junior and senior girls that are in block, a sense of spirit would be lost. Not only do the girls show their spirit by cheering the Bronchos to victory, but they also organize colorful sitting formations, hold card shows, and present a Christmas show each year. Each girl in the front row of the block section is assigned a player. Throughout the season she keeps a scrapbook for him, decorates his locker, and bakes him all kinds of goodies. At the end of the year she presents her corresponding player with a scrapbook full of the past year's memories.

Credit this year goes to Jennifer Cassida, Jill Kuipers, Beth McKibbin, senior block captains; and junior block captains, Karla Kelley, Mary Ann Stitz, and Carrie Trout, who coordinated in organizing formations, practices, selling tickets, maintaining the office, and the attendance. Mrs. Mary Beth Long, faculty sponsor, also played a big part in working with the Jeff block to give it the high quality that it has. As a result, the Jefferson Block is considered to be one of the best in the state.

Y-E-L-L Everybody Yell!

Who will be most recognized and remembered in the years to come for their leadership qualities in building up spirit and enthusiasm? Of course, we all know it's the cheerleaders. They create the spirited mood by getting people interested and involved in all sports, from football to swimming.

When they're not cheering, the cheerleaders are busy heading the Advisory Board, making plans for the mixer which they sponsor annually, and coordinating with the block in practice sessions.

Triumphantly leading the Broncos onward this year were varsity cheerleaders, Terry DeLay, Captain; Pam Anthrop, Gretchen Strahle, seniors; and Brenda Bennett, Tina Dietrick, and Marian Reece, juniors. Boosting the J-Club were Broncho cheerleaders, Ed Cramer, Mark Johannsen, Russ Neilen, and Tim Russell. The reserve team cheerleaders, Jill Bernhardt, captain; Julie Hatke, Christie Wright, Sharon Herring, Resa McGraw, and Marcie Bennett also helped arouse spirit by cheering at B-team games and girls' sports events. Mrs. Mary Beth Long, faculty sponsor, logged many hours with the high spirited cheerleaders.

Pam Anthrop leads the crowd in a cheer.

Jefferson High School provided intramural activities in bowling again this year. The team attempted to bowl once a week after school at Market Square Lanes.

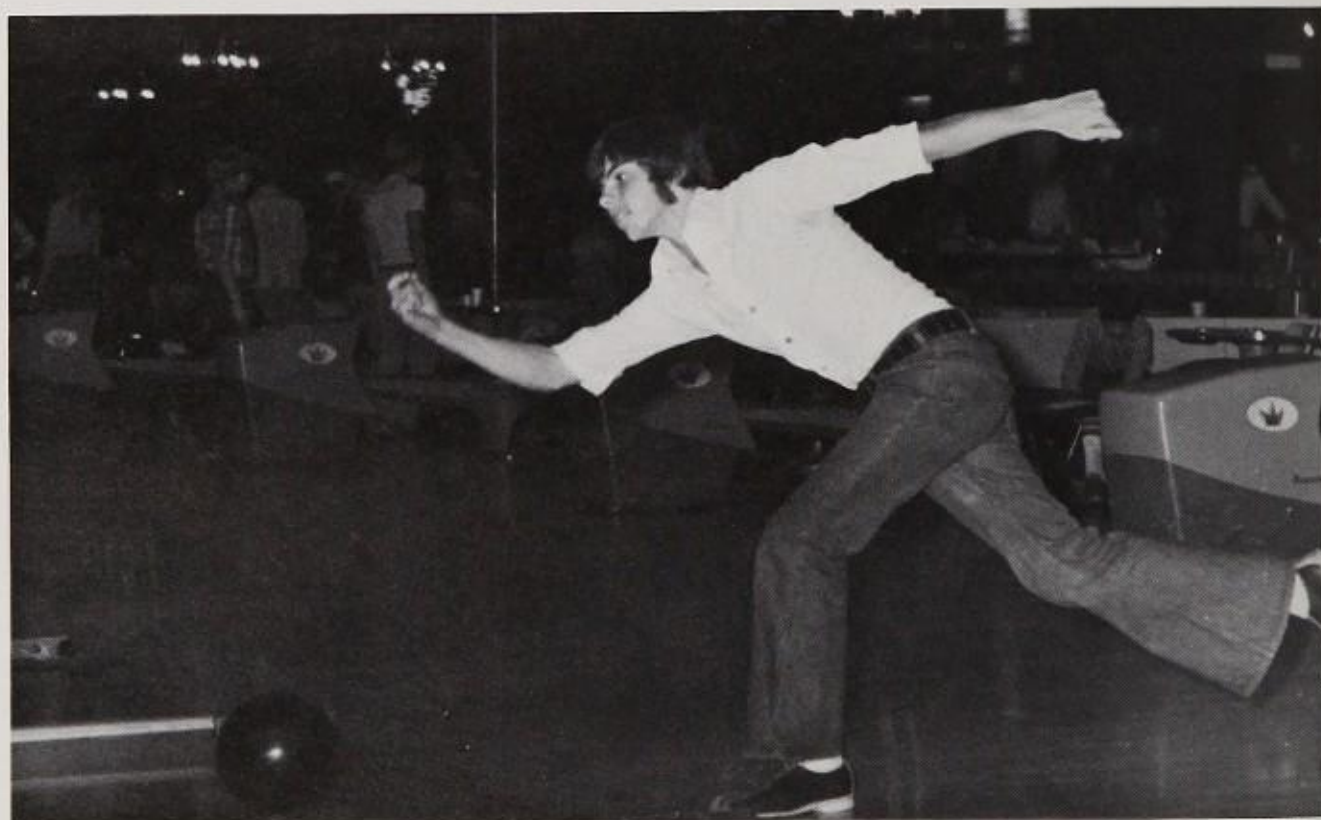

The bowlers were divided into six teams with approximately four on each team. Six substitutes were provided for when the regular bowlers were unable to attend.

Mr. Dennis Plantenga, who was on the Jeff bowling team in 1951-52, sponsored the bowling team this year; Mr. Harold Smith previously held the position as sponsor.

There was a doubles tournament held at the end of the season (Feb. 27th) and a singles tournament in March.

Jeff Blankman can't believe what he saw.

Intramurals Provide Recreation

Students at Jeff, who did not want to participate in varsity or junior varsity basketball, had the opportunity again this year to take part in intramural basketball. Mr. McCaffry sponsored the intramural program. He acted as timer, record keeper, organizer, and, of course, an observer.

The intramural program was broken down into 12 teams; six teams were made up of juniors and seniors, and six were compiled of sophomores. The teams played every Monday night during the winter and played two 15 minute halves for each game. A single elimination tournament was held at the end of the regular playing session towards the end of February.

Intramurals at Jeff definitely provided needed recreation during the long, blizzard-filled winter in Lafayette.

The action is always hot and heavy.

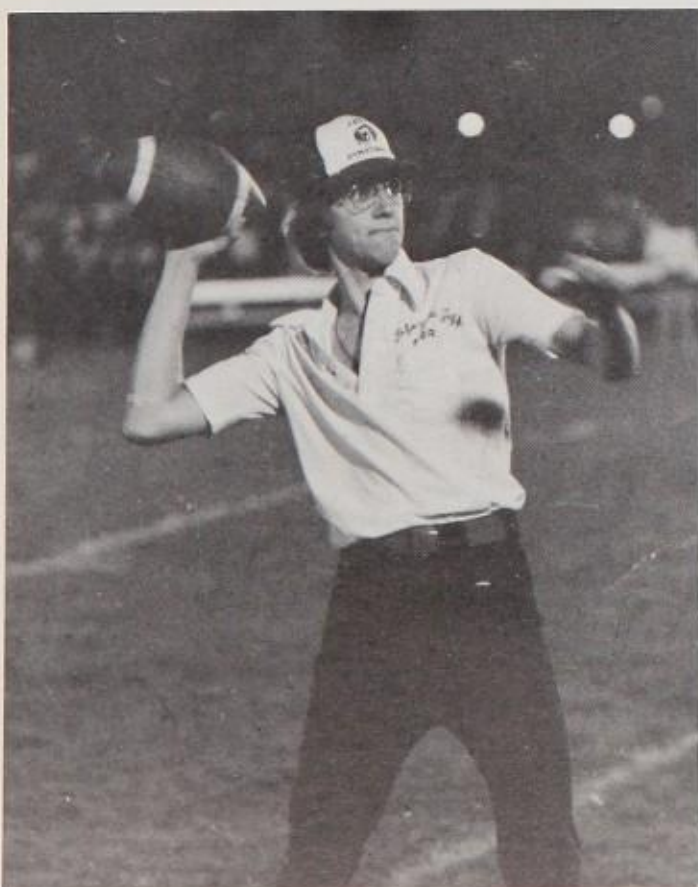

The team leader calls out play #1.

Look on the sidelines: it's a bird, it's a plane, no, it's the Jefferson managers! Able to tape sagging muscles in a matter of seconds, and able to comfort screaming linebackers in dire crises.

Disguised as mild-mannered students in our fair school, they take the same courses you and I do and walk down the same halls. Little do we realize that in the time of need, these mild-mannered students could become "supermanagers" ready to offer services and advice.

The rare breed of man or woman who dedicates his life to the ranks of serving the teams of Jeff often spend many thankless hours in preparing the teams for the many battles and are often unknown to the crowd. Only these supermen could keep our athletic department together like our Jefferson managers have.

Broncho Coaches Reveal What Coaching Means To Them

Edwards - A very rewarding experience.

Hilkert - A Chance to work with young people.

Hurt - Helping athletes better themselves.

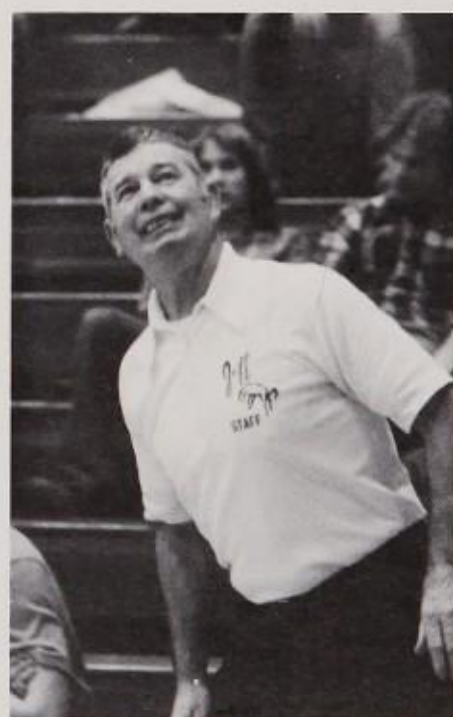

Green - Teaching them to be humble if we win.

Downing - Helping improve an athlete's skills.

Clark - A chance to help kids reach goals.

Knott - Chance to be around good young men.

Willey - Form young men into better citizens.

Hart - Satisfaction.

Phelps - Associating with the swimmers.

Hey, Look

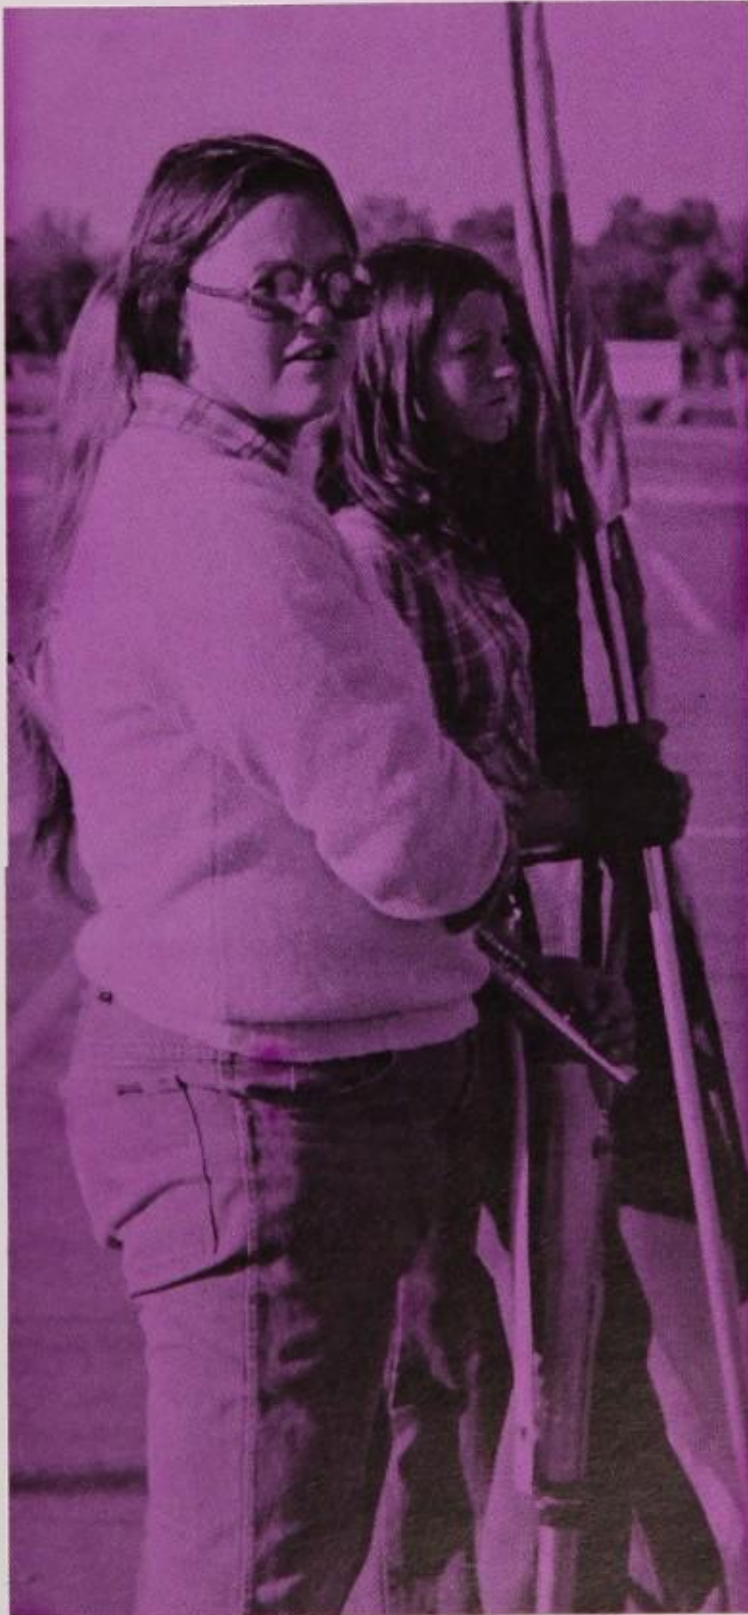

Hey, look at us! We're looking good. Isn't that natural though? We are one of the better looking groups of students assembled anywhere. Whether clad in the usual attire of blue jeans and cords or in formals and suits on nights of special dances, we do look good. This year students could also be found garbed in band uniforms, sweatsuits, Pinocchio costumes, pajamas, red and black outfits, J-sweaters, gymnastic tights, broadcasters' jackets, tee-shirts and golf shirts depicting the owner's club membership, and the traditional tee-shirts, hats, mittens, sweatshirts, jewelry, and jackets that express the fact that the wearer is a Jefferson Broncho.

Whether dressed in our "nice" clothes on those special days or in our "grubbies" on those lazy days, we have a good reason to say, "Hey, look at us! We're looking good!"

At Us . . .

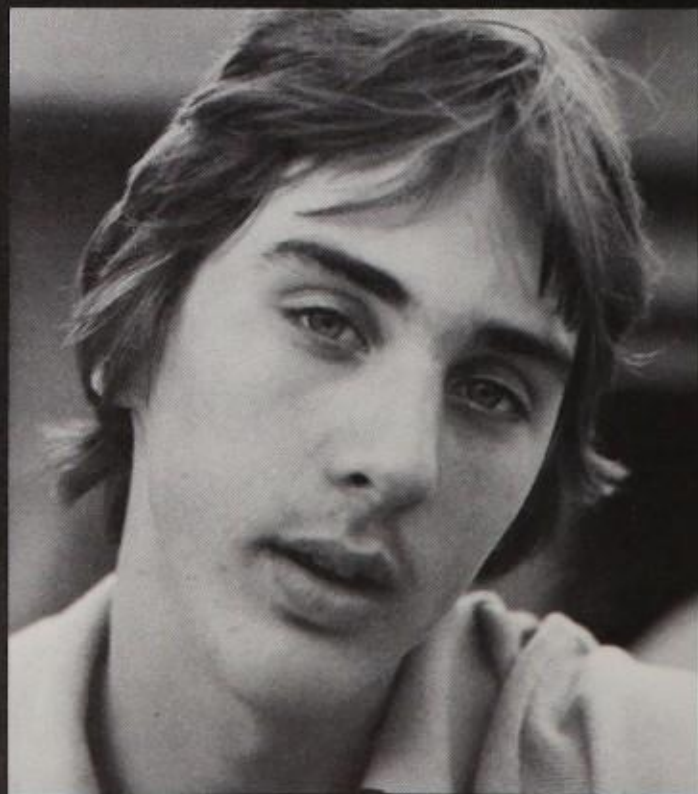

We're Looking Good

Sophs

Hey, look at us. . .
 We're sophomores this year
 Youngest of the "Bronchos"
 Experiencing much fear
 Unsure of where we're going
 As we wander through the hall
 We look up to the seniors
 Who seem to know it all.
 Though our future destinations
 To us are still unclear
 We tend to be impatient
 To advance another year.

We've Only Just Begun

Once again, a vivacious group of sophomores filled the halls of Jeff this year. Under the supervision of Miss Evelyn Brown, the sophomore class experienced a fun and successful year. The major project for the sophomores was the selling of class rings, although they participated in Homecoming hall decorations, convocations, and various organizations.

In class elections, Eric Newman was elected president, Peggy Wilson, vice-president, and Suzy Vaughan, secretary-treasurer. These officers, along with the student council representatives, helped to promote new ideas to benefit their class.

The B-team cheerleaders also helped to promote spirit. They were Jill Bernhardt-captain, Julie Hatke, Marcy Bennett, Resa McGraw, Sharon Herring, and Christy Wright.

Although the sophomores enjoyed their first year at Jeff, they were even more anxious to return as juniors, and then to experience their much anticipated senior year, Miss Evelyn Brown, class sponsor, described the sophomores as "the class who starts it all at Jeff."

Are all sophomores this friendly?

Juniors

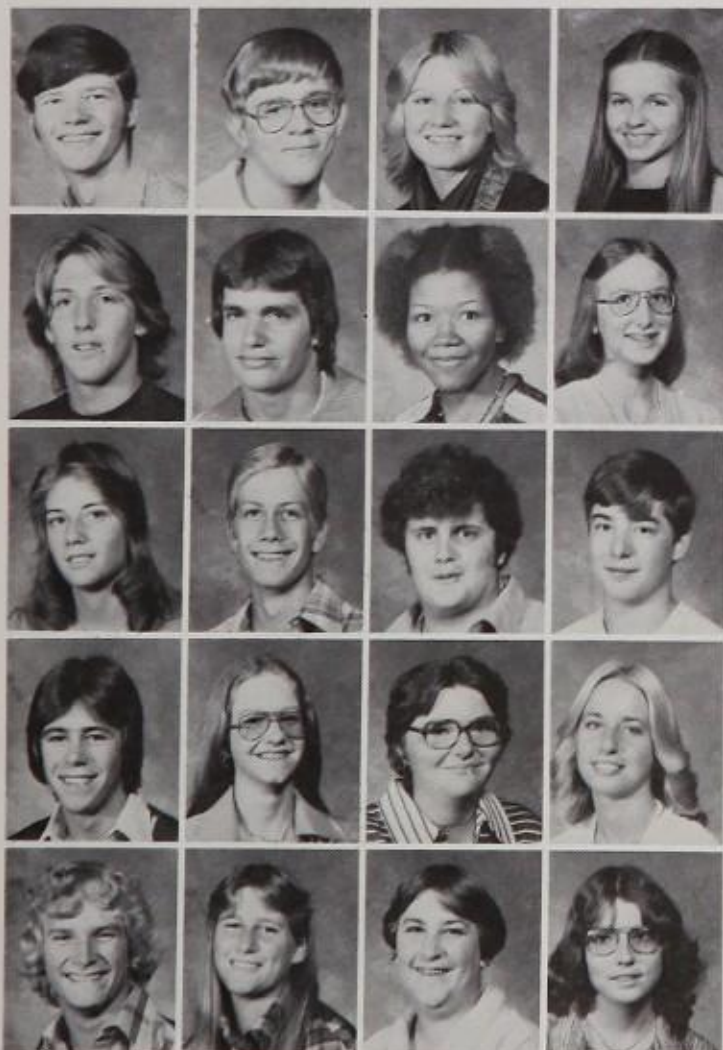

Hey, look at us . . .
We are juniors now
Striving for authority
To show prestige somehow.
The seniors tower above us
While the sophomores cower below
Caught right in the middle
We're unsure which way to go.
We have become much wiser
We've lost most of our fear
We can't help looking forward
To our own senior year.

Schilling, Taylor, Goldberg Lead The Class Of 1979

The "Class of 79" was a large class with six-hundred and fifty-nine students. Each student contributed to the class in their own way, and the make-up of the class as a whole was one of high spirit and enthusiasm. President Ted Schilling, Vice-President Greg Taylor, and Secretary Lisa Goldberg helped lead the class through various fund-raising projects such as: the junior car wash, selling Christmas wrapping paper, and de-decorating the Senior Prom. Three sparkling cheerleaders helped the junior class receive the spirit jug at the annual Homecoming pep session. They were Marian Reece, Tina Dietrick, and Brenda Bennett.

Anticipation Of Their Own Senior Year Fills Hearts Of Juniors

Seniors

Hey, look at us . . .
We are seniors at last
Looking into the future
Remembering the past.
Standing on life's threshold
We prepare to seek our fame
Knowing if we somehow fail
We've just ourselves to blame.
We eagerly anticipate Graduation, prom and such
But we shall miss Jefferson
Oh, so very much.

Treasured Moments

Hey look at us; we are the class of '78. We have traveled the long, winding path of education, closing many old doors behind us in our search for many new ones. We have experienced the fears of being sophomores, the struggles of being juniors, and the pride and tears of being seniors. We have matured and grown together as we learned to accept life's responsibilities, and last, but not least, we have come to love Jefferson High.

Knowing everything we did this year was being done for the last time, made our senior year most valuable to all of us. Returning to Jeff in the fall, we were determined to make the most of every minute; time was too precious to waste. As individuals, we strove to excel in our own areas of interest, chosen from fields of academics, music and sports. However, we also worked together to earn ample funds for our much-anticipated prom, to decorate for homecoming and tourneys, to create new traditions at Jeff, and to provide an overall feeling of unlimited spirit and vitality.

We found that "working together" was an extremely rewarding experience. Sharing this year seemed to bring us much closer, binding us with all of our memories of the good times we had shared. We made many new friends and rediscovered our old friends. Studying, job-hunting and college applications also became ways of life. With such busy schedules time passed quickly, and, before we realized it, the final moment had arrived—graduation.

On graduation night the good, bad, hilarious, and sad experiences of the last three years flashed before us. We were saddened that our year was so suddenly over, yet elated at what the future promised to bring. Facing a new horizon, we were prepared to stand proudly in society, to tackle the world, and to reach for the highest star.

Even though we closed the doors of Jefferson behind us, as students, for the last time on May 25, 1978, we will never close our minds to the various amusing and precious memories of these important moments in our lives at Jefferson High School. Memories last forever.

Seniors Taste Success

It has long been said that success is the result of much hard work. The 1978 senior prom was a great success due to the extensive amount of work and time which the class dedicated to this year's magazine drive. Led by class officers, Jennifer McKenzie, Jennifer Cassida and Debbie Dimmit, and chosen magazine chairmen, Patty Doran and Beth McKibbin, the seniors struggled to transform themselves into expert salesmen. In the beginning the sales were few, but as "turn-in" days progressed, the results increased.

Inspiration was provided in many forms: every senior who sold fifteen subscriptions was eligible to decorate for the prom during class hours, everyone who sold at least $125.00 worth was eligible for a banquet at the Trails on October 12, and for every Reader's Digest sold, a large candy bar was the reward. Prize choices were awarded to all individuals who sold fifteen subscriptions or more, and the top salesmen on September 7 each received a music award. There were also drawings on the "turn-in" days. Names were drawn up to three times until the name of somebody who had turned in money on that day was drawn. Cash prizes were awarded to these winners: Ellen Williams, $25.00; Mike Moutilak, $20.00; Julie Crowden, $25.00; Cheryl Buhrmester, $10.00; Tom Geisler, $15.00; and Laura Jones, $25.00.

When totals were all in, seniors were happy to hear that they had indeed done very well. The top salesman, Jennifer McKenzie, sold 70 subscriptions totaling $692.02. She received a $75.00 cash award for her efforts. One-hundred and twenty-four students were eligible to decorate and ninety-eight qualified for the banquet. The grand total was approximately $27,885.00 of which the class received $12,000.00. With funds left over from their junior year the class of '78 had an adequate treasury to help them make their dream of a perfect prom come true.

Now That You've Looked At Us -

Don't We Look Great!

Hi!
Bob

Blap - Blap - Blap - 1 2 3
 I really don't sign books as a rule, but you said ~~Nooooo~~!
 P O E opps was your what a explode

So how was your year? Hey man what dog had no hair?
Warm out! Time warm?

Turn out!
 Try Again
 I claim - You are

Bye

(reserved for a Nabash escapee, but my dear friend)

Jammy,

We have had an absolutely marvelous time this year (a real trip!) haven't we.

I shall always remember our good times as some of the best in my life (or worst - I have not decided yet!)

I do hope I am not being too wussy, wussy, but you have been such a great friend and always will be!

Daddy, eye very great.
Then if I don't no been great.
Well, it's been touch in "79"
So keep in touch in "79"
Good Yuck in "79"

Tammy,

To a sweet girl, who was always around when I needed you. I feel so bad because I couldn't help you with anything, or even repay you.

When I asked you to help me you said yes right away, you wouldn't think about yourself but you would think about others first. That's why you are so special. I'm glad your smart and Friendly because I don't know ~~what~~^{you} I would do with out ~~you~~. You are all ready! ~~ahead~~ ahead of me because you have a boyfriend and I don't. We have been friends for a long time, and it because you are understanding willing to listen to people and help them any way you can.

Stay that way!

Carmen.

Tammy,
I was glad to have you in a class this year. It was fun in geometry except for
Mr. "K". Hope to see you next year + this summer!

Kathy Maitlen

Tammy, math class was pretty good. I thanks for all the help in that class.
I really needed it. See ya next year (I hope) your friend always
Greg '80

TAMMY -
TO BAD WE DIDN'T
SEE EACH OTHER THAT MUCH THIS YEAR MAYBE
LATER NEXT. BUT BLAH,
BLAH, BLAH, BLAH.
BUT REMEMBER

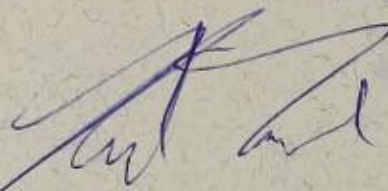

LIVE FROM NEW YORK

IT'S SATURDAY NIGHT!

Tammy,

I may not be a poet,
But at this rate you would never know it. (get the pun?)
Well, would you believe that if I type one more "L", my finger will ~~kill~~ ^{off}. Well, anyhow, ~~let~~ have fun this summer and good luck in band.

Love Always,
Your Friend,

P.S. 3 off for each misplaced
comma.

Tammy -
It has been really nice having you in class.
You are really nice
so don't change.

fun in surprised that Mr. Kaufman never kicked me out. Don't forget about band and the band banquet. Make sure you don't go to the same play with your boy friend at the same time I go with mine. Had luck as a junior!

Sammy, there's it's nice to be in the world!
another cross in the world!
Remember the night of the Bonfire
